HIGH CAGERS TO SEEK TITLE

DIAMONDS WORTH $700 REPORTED STOLEN

GEMS TAKEN AS OWNER SHOPS DURING RUSH HOUR IN STORE

Mrs. Mary Hanley, High
Street, Asks Police
Aid.

FIND NO CLUE

Man Given Jail Term for Theft of Pocketbook.

Police today were searching for a thief who fled with a pocketbook, said to contain approximately $700 worth of diamonds belonging to Mrs. Mary Hanley, High street, East End, which disappeared while she was shopping in an uptown store Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Hanley told chief of Police McDermott that while making a purchase in the store she laid her pocketbook on the counter. When she turned around a minute later it was gone. The pocketbook contained a solitaire ring with diamond of about one carat, one euster diamond ring, a pair of diamond ear rings and a bar pin containing three cameo heads.

Charles Headley Sentenced.
Charles "Cotton" Headley, Cherry alley, arrested by Patrolman William Lister last night upon a charge of larceny in connection with the finding of a purse belonging to Mrs. Joshua Poole, Pennsylvania avenue, was sentenced to 30 days in the city jail by Municipal Judge Hanley this morning.

Headley is alleged to have picked up Mrs. Poole's purse in Cherry alley at 8:30 o'clock last night. Captain Conley and Patrolman Lister, who were sent to investigate, located Headley but he at first denied having found the pocketbook, which Mrs. Poole declared contained $23. After further questioning he admitted having found the purse, which he said he had thrown away in a run along the River road after taking the money.

Headley returned $19 and told police where he had disposed of the pocketbook. The purse was found today by Fireman Herman Feustal.

Chopping the Octopus.
Sadder and Fatter.
General Motors and $9.
30 Sultans, Good and Mad.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of the Review.)

"ONCE I loved thee, Athia, long ago." That is one of the most perfect lines left by Sappho to posterity. "Once I scared thee, Uncle Sam, long ago." That is one of the amusing lines in Standard Oil's private diary.

STANDARD OIL was supposed to be worth a billion dollars. That was terrible. So the mamma octopus was chopped up into tiny little pieces. The president of one piece, Mr. Kingsley of S. O. of California, says his company made last year only a little more than forty million dollars, net profit. Times were bad, over-production, etc. But that "small" profit is 4 per cent of a billion dollars. How will it be when oil times get better?

CARL LAEMMLE, a little Viennese girl, on the Lido, gave her "Dimples" for a stage name, brought her to Hollywood and thought she would be a star. First she was sent to the Hot Springs, got a little thinner. Instead, she got a little fatter, and returns to Vienna sadder and fatter.

IF YOU can't get close to skin and bones, Hollywood does not want you. That is foolish and harmful. Movie stars are too thin, and girls in general try to look like movie stars. Poor Dimples from the Lido will make a good wife for some sensible Viennese, and perhaps become a foreign star, in spite of a few extra pounds.

WHEN things are done on a big scale, a little change makes a big difference. When General Motors stock rose nine points in a day they increased the total market value of the stock (Continued on Page Eight, Col. Two)

ROMEO, "BROKE," WAITS AT CHURCH

LYNN, Mass., March 12.—Driven by the "love-urge," a disappointed young lochinvar walked out of the west today. The foot-sore Romeo was William St. Clair, who had traveled from Portland, Oregon, on $30. When he arrived he discovered that his sweetheart, Miss Lillian Murphy, was not here. With only three cents in his pocket, St. Clair was obliged to find lodgings at local police headquarters. He was a soldier, stationed near Boston in 1925, when he first met Miss Murphy.

PEARL SMITH IS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Clyde Campbell's Car
in Collision in St.
Clair Ave.

GOES INTO DITCH

Passenger, Bruised in Crash, Taken to Hospital.

Pearl S. Smith, 923 St. George street, repairman for the Ohio Belle Telephone company, is in the City hospital suffering from bruises to his head and arms, sustained at 6:45 o'clock last night when the automobile in which he was a passenger went over an embankment in St. Clair avenue, near the city limits, following a crash with another car.

Smith was a passenger in the machine driven by Clyde Campbell, employee of the Youngstown Auto Body and Painting company, traveling south in St. Clair avenue, when the car was struck by a Ford automobile driven by a man whose name was not learned. The Campbell car went over the side of the road and was badly damaged, but the other machine was only slightly damaged.

The injured man was taken to the hospital in a passing automobile. He was attended by Dr. H. A. Turk. McElravy Brothers took Campbell's machine to the Youngstown Auto Body & Painting company's establishment, Pennsylvania avenue, while the other car was towed away by a horse.

A Buick touring car, whose owner was not identified, was damaged when it struck a telephone pole in St. Clair avenue at 5:30 o'clock Saturday night. The driver escaped unhurt. The accident is said to have occurred when the machine was forced to one side of the road by a passing truck.

BUS IS WRECKED 25 ESCAPE HURTS

DAYTON, O., March 12.—Twenty-five school children escaped injury today when a school bus was struck by the engine of a Big Four freight train between West Carrollton and Alexander, near here. Howard Bollinger, 52, driver of the bus sustained a fractured shoulder, and Lucille Rocky, 14, West Carrollton, was slightly bruised. They were brought to a hospital here.

Bollinger drove upon the tracks, and upon seeing the onrushing train, reversed his machine and was backing off the tracks when the engine struck the auto's hood.

FABER'S TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Trial of G. Edward Faber, Dayton insurance policy expert, charged with obtaining money under false pretense in the alleged issuance of fraudulent checks, has been postponed until this afternoon or tomorrow, owing to the absence of Chief of Police McDermott who is out of the city.

Charles W. Faber, Dayton, father of the suspect arrived here last night in an effort to settle the charges against his son who is held in jail in default of $1,000 bond.

Lighted Cigarette Ignites Mattress.
The fire department was called to the home of John Wucherer, St. Clair avenue, at 4:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon to extinguish a burning mattress. The blaze, firemen said, originated from a lighted cigarette.

Supporters of Willis, Lowden, Dawes, Curtis and Watson Say Cabinet Member Can be Stopped.

CLAIMS MINIMUM OF 400 VOTES

Secretary's Managers
Happy as Tables of Potential Strength Show Delegates From Every Corner of Country.

By George R. Holmes.
WASHINGTON, March 12.—Three months from today the Republican national convention meets in Kansas City to nominate a candidate for the presidency.

At this stage, with twelve weeks to go and before a single primary has afforded an inside into the electoral mind, it is conceded Hoover against the field, with many Republican leaders asking themselves in all seriousness: "Can Hoover be stopped?"

The Hoover handlers say no. But the anti-Hoover people, which includes the adherents of every other candidate in the list, Lowden, Dawes, Curtis, Watson, Willis, have a different answer. They willingly concede that at this early stage the lead which the cabinet candidate has built up through one of the most efficient organizations on record is a commanding one, but they say that Hoover can be stopped and will be stopped at Kansas City. The events of the next eight or ten weeks may reveal who is wrong.

Need 545 to Nominate.
A minimum of 400 votes on the first ballot at Kansas City was claimed today by the Hoover managers, and they cited known facts and figures and commitments to back up their claim. A total of 545 is necessary to nominate but while the 400 was claimed as a minimum, it was admitted at the same time that the maximum, as of today, is not much if any greater than that.

The greatest comfort which the Hoover managers have is that their tables of potential strength show votes from every corner of the country—from Maine to California, and from Michigan to the southern states that line the gulf.

In contrast, they point to the more sectionalized strength of ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden, the foremost and strongest candidate that has appeared to challenge the progress of the Hoover movement.

Lowden's delegate strength, as of today, they figure at roughly 200 in the initial balloting, nearly all of which comes from the insurgent and peevish grain belt, from Illinois to the Dakotas.

The Lowden people do not claim much more than that at this stage.

Dawes in Background.
In the background is the Dawes candidacy, unannounced, apparently immobile, and yet of such menacing potentialities that the Hoover backers (Continued on Page Eight, Col. Four)

G. O. P. WOMEN MEET TUESDAY

Meeting of women Republican workers will be held in the Carnegie library at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening to discuss plans for the presidential preference campaign. The meeting was called by Mrs. Ella Marshall Cronin, chairlady of the county women's Republican organization acting for Mrs. Mae Joseph, city chairman, who is confined to her home by injuries sustained in a fall.

All Republican women have been invited to attend.

Col. Lindbergh Amasses Close to Million Without Indorsing Fag, Golf Ball or Collar

By Lawrence Sullivan.
(Copyright, 1928, by International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, still under 27, has already amassed close to his first million.

The tow-headed boy who began his climb to fame and fortune in a mail plane at two hundred-and-something a month, has earned more in a year than most people accumulate in a lifetime.

All this he has accomplished without in any way forsaking the calling which made him one of the world's greatest heroes of all time.

FIVE ARE DEAD, OTHERS HURT IN WEEK-END AUTO CRASHES

Three Killed in Collision
With Trolley Car.

BUS IN WRECK

Accidents Occur in Columbus, Akron and Elyria.

COLUMBUS, O., March 12.—Three are dead here today as the result of a collision between a small auto and a Columbus, Newark and Zanesville interurban car, yesterday afternoon.

The dead are: Otto P. Hancher, 45, Washington C. H.; Mrs. Helen Basham, 20, and Mrs. Irene Albright, 25, both of Columbus. Hancher and Mrs. Basham were killed instantly. Mrs. Albright, Hancher's daughter, died several hours later.

Hancher was driving into Columbus from Pickerington where the trio had paid their respect to the deceased child of a relative. After visiting a florist, Hancher backed into the street in the path of the interurban car, witnesses said.

The car was in charge of Conductor McRay Shafer, Zanesville, and Motorman L. S. Cory, Columbus.

Guard Two of Injured.

CLEVELAND, March 12.—Two persons are dead, and six others today were nursing injuries as the result of week-end traffic accidents in northern Ohio. At Akron, Arthur A. Harbaugh, 59, stage manager of the Colonial theatre in that city, and his wife, Margaret, 57, were killed Sunday night when a northern Ohio Power and Light company bus collided with their automobile.

M. E. Rorbaugh, 24, driver of the bus, was to be questioned regarding the crash. He disclaimed all blame. At Elyria, six persons were injured when two automobiles collided. Two of the six, John Shannon, 25, and Lawrence Taylor, 20, both of Elyria, were severely hurt. The other four, William Gillette, 21 and Robert David, 20, both of Lima, and son, Rawson, 21, and John Hagerman, 21, both of Elyria, were less seriously injured.

Police say the auto in which Taylor and Shannon were riding had been stolen from an Elyria firm. The two men are under guard at Elyria Memorial hospital.

VANPORT MAN SHOT TO DEATH

Clarence Drew Slain in Quarrel in Shack.

Clarence Drew, 35, colored, was shot to death in a quarrel in a shack on a hill near Merrill's dam, Vanport, Pa., at 7:30 o'clock last night.

State police arrested William Board, 40, also colored, who was also an occupant of the shack, as a suspect in the killing. Board was taken to the New Brighton, Pa., jail, and tonight will be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace David Stewart of Beaver. According to police, Drew was shot through the right eye and left hand. A 45-caliber automatic revolver was used, police said, but they were unable to find the weapon.

Four ladies wanted to assist in advertising a well known food product. Salary paid. Apply tonight 7 to 9. Miss BALMOND, 304 Washington Street.

Decorate City Stores For Spring Display

Shoppers From Pennsylvania and West Virginia as Well as Ohio Will Visit Here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Merchants today began to decorate their store windows in anticipation of Spring Display Days, which will be observed Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Window shades will be raised at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Shoppers from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia are expected to visit here during the fashion exposition. The Fare Refunding association will pay the fares to all out-of-town shoppers during the last three days of the week.

For the convenience of visitors, merchants have arranged for special parking facilities. Parking tags, attached to the door of an automobile, will permit the owner to park any place. These tags may be obtained for the asking at any store.

REV. ARBUTHNOT, AGED 64, DIES

Mrs. J. M. Arbuthnot, Bradshaw avenue, has been called to McMechen, W. Va., by the death of her brother-in-law, Rev. S. K. Arbuthnot, 61, on Saturday. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon. The deceased was a brother of the late J. M. Arbuthnot of this city, was pastor of the McMechen Methodist Episcopal church. He leaves his widow, two daughters, one sister and one brother.

STOLEN COACH IS RECOVERED

Nash coach, belonging to Samuel Gordon, Dresden avenue tailor, stolen from its parking place in Green Lane, Saturday night was found in Walnut street early Sunday morning.

balls and he wears no man's collar. Refuses to Capitalize Name.
Millions in vaudeville contracts have been spurned with a snap of his fingers, and millions more in movie royalties have been left for those who go in for that sort of thing. Harassed almost to distraction by airplane manufacturers, inventors and operators who have offered millions to have him sit at their own glass-top desks, he has persisted in his determination never to capitalize his name for merely personal financial gain. Lindy has put all his legs in one cockpit and then given undivided attention to keeping that ship on an even keel—and the money has rolled in.

Despite his longing for obscurity, he has never been able to rid himself of the midas touch thrust upon him by Paris last May. He has run away from more millions than any man in history. But he has not been able to remain as humble in the records of the income tax division of the treasury department as in his own dashing spirit.

Most of Lindbergh's fortune, which has congealed about him at the average rate of $100,000 a month since his Paris flight, falls under the head of "earned income"—which means work for pay at the controls of the "Spirit of St. Louis." About $300,000 has come from his writings.

Two series of daily flight narratives, one from Europe and one from Central America, have netted approximately $150,000 from a newspaper syndicate. (Continued on Page Eight, Col. Two)

Potters Take Sectional Championship by Downing Coshocton.

COLUMBUS, O., March 12.—The nine class A and ten class B basketball teams which are to meet here Friday and Saturday for the state high school championships were paired by a lot by Governor Donahey here today. Canton McKinley will play East Liverpool in the opening tilt.

East Liverpool high school will be one of the nine divisional basketball champions from various sections of the state that will meet Friday and Saturday in Columbus for the Buckeye state finals.

Winning the eastern Ohio championship in the tournament at Muskingum college, the Potters brought home the first sectional title that East Liverpool has won since 1916 and qualified for the Ohio play-off.

Here are the teams that they will meet:

Central district—Columbus Central.
Northeast district—Akron South and Canton McKinley.
Southeastern district—Hillsboro.
Southwestern district (north half)—Dayton Stivers.
Southwestern district (south half)—Hamilton.
Northwest district—Toledo (Libbey and Fremont).

Play Starts Friday.

Drawings for the state tournament play will be held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in the office of Governor Vic Donahey, Columbus.

Games will start Friday morning at 9 o'clock and continue through the opening day to 9:30 p. m. One class A game will be played Friday morning at 11, and the same team will be forced to play again at 9 a. m.

Semi-final round battles will start at 1 p. m. Saturday, and the final will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

All school teams will be quartered at Columbus hotels, since Ohio State students will be enjoying a spring vacation and fraternity houses will be closed.

Tournament Officials.

Officials for the Columbus tournament are Fred Trautman, Bucyrus; A. B. Long, Newark, and R. W. Finsterwald, Athens.

All the games will be played in eight-minute quarters.

Nine class A and 10 class B teams survived the district tournaments held in various parts of the state. The week-end results, according to (Continued on Page Eight, Col. One)

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Ratkovich, Stop 9, who pleaded guilty to charges of manufacturing and possessing liquor at Beaver, December 15, last, was sentenced Saturday to pay a fine of $500 and spend 60 days in jail.

If Ratkovich pays the fine and costs, jail sentence will be remitted.

Lindsay Scott, colored, was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail and pay $1 fine. Scott pleaded guilty to a charge of felonious assault and battery in connection with the cutting of his wife and another man in a jealous rage.

Albert Jeffries, colored, charged with theft of meat and possession of liquor, was sentenced to serve four months in jail and was fined $100. Suspended sentence was given on the larceny charge upon payment of costs.

MATERNITY CENTER ADVISES THIS CARE OF BABY GARMENTS

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Famous throughout the United States, the Maternity Center Association of New York teaches thousands of mothers the best methods of infant care.

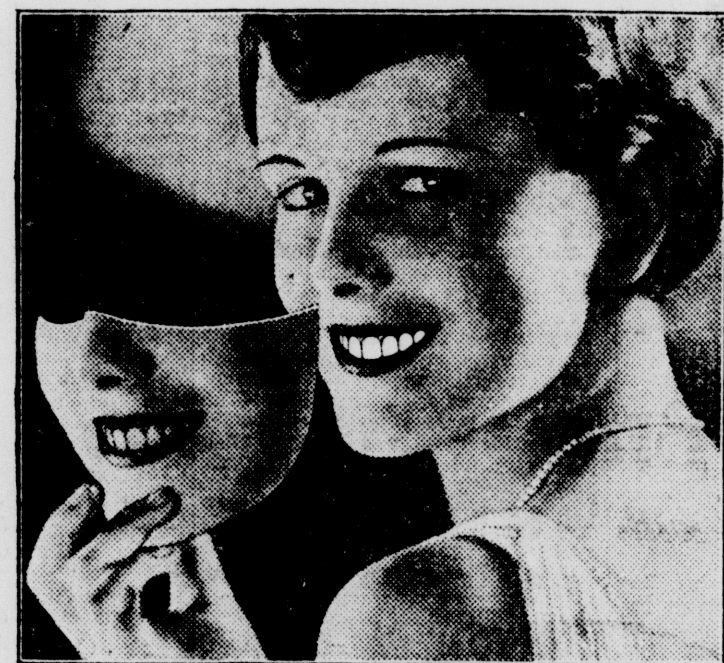

At the Center, everything concerned with baby—clothes, blankets, bottles, toys—is washed in Lux.

"Many soaps contain alkalis harmful to a baby's skin, if the soap remains in the garment," these experts say. "Analysis has shown that Lux contains no harmful alkali."

"Lux is also a truly sanitary form of soap for use with a little baby's things. Unlike cake soap, the same Lux is never used twice."

The makers of Lux take pride in making the tissue-thin Lux diamonds just a little purer and finer than anything else, so that baby's things, as well as mother's, are safely, easily washed in the instant, sparkling Lux suds.

PITTSBURGH'S MASTER VIOLIN
MAKER BUILDS 75 INSTRUMENTS

PITTSBURGH, March 12.—Violin makers passing through Pittsburgh always visit the shop of Gabriel Marc Francois, contemporary master and generally esteemed expert in the art of making fiddles.

For Francois, who started out to be a doctor, has served a ten-year apprenticeship in the violin making art, and devoted 25 of the best years of life to building them. All this in addition to working in his father's shop in Mirecourt, France, when he was a young man.

And Francois has made only seventy violins during the 25 years he has been established here.

But Francois had started to become a doctor. His father and forefathers all had been violin makers. The young man determined to branch off into another profession. During the first years of his life, he had been employed in his father's shop.

It was natural that when the youth started to study medicine, he should attempt to defray part of his expenses by doing odd jobs in his father's shop. Later he served an apprenticeship with the famous Paul Bally. He worked for Bally ten years.

Models of Masters.
During his apprenticeship Francois learned to reproduce models for all the great masters. So adept had he become that he established a reputation for himself that was nationwide. He still persisted in his study of medicine, however, and gave up violin making when he graduated from the University of Paris.

His reputation established however,

Gargle Aspirin
for Tonsillitis
or Sore Throat

A harmless and effective gargle is to dissolve two "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in four tablespoons of water, and gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

Be sure you use only the genuine Bayer Aspirin, marked with the Bayer Cross, which can be had in tin boxes of twelve tablets for few cents.

made it impossible for him to remain in France and attempt to practice his newly acquired profession. There were too many demands on his time.

So the young Francois left his country and settled in Boston, there to practice medicine. During odd hours, he whittled away his time by carving out pieces for violins, and putting them together. The more he carved, the greater, and giving up his practice in Boston he came to Pittsburgh where he set up a shop.

Soon he became famous for his ability to reproduce the old models. His favorite is the Guadagnini.

How He Makes Them.

"The Stradivari is a soprano instrument, the Guarneri is contralto, but the Guadagnini embraces both sounds most and has a luscious tone of much brilliancy and color," explained Francois as he sat at his work table in an office building in the heart of downtown Pittsburgh.

Francois then told how he makes his violins. "The separate parts are carved by hand from solid blocks of wood, the oldest obtainable and thoroughly matured and seasoned. It is preferable to have wood from a high altitude, particularly the Alps.

"My last violin was made from wood from a church building more than 500 years old," the veteran fiddle maker said illustrating his point.

"Curly maple goes into the back, sides and head, and spruce on the top," continued Francois. "At the thickest part, the top is just 12-100 of an inch thick but it is so durable, it will hold up under 60 pounds pressure.

"The sides are shaped with a hot iron in a special mold.

"The 72 parts that go to make up the violin are held together by a special type of fish glue.

"The whole instrument, when put together, is varnished with a solution of sufficient drying properties that will not hold the imprint of the hand, but soft enough to leave the pores of the wood open."

Wood Must Breathe.
Francois then explained that the violin wood must be able to breathe through its pores much as the human body.

"If the wood is pungent enough it absorbs readily, and often requires as much as 14 coats of varnish.

"I use a recipe of Jean Patist Vull-laume, France's greatest master. Vull-laume gave his secret to Bally, and Bally in turn gave it to me.

"Old violins are rare and expensive, so artists have been forced to use modern instruments. There is opportunity and incentive for modern makers to produce perfect instruments.

Francois completed his last violin 14 months ago.

The Frenchman has a collection of old instruments he values at more than $60,000. These seldom are brought out of his safe where he guards them jealously. Once in a while when a great artist visits his little shop here, Francois ceremoniously opens his vault and produces one of the old instruments to the delight and envy of his visitor.

In Francois' collection are a Stradivari, a Guarneri and a Guadagnini. Some of the bows in his collection are valued at $1,500 by Francois.

ANNIE LAURIE'S
TIMELY ADVICE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am a girl of 17 and had been going with a young man for about six months. A few months ago we had a quarrel and I said some things I am sorry for. When we meet he smiles at me and seems friendly. Should I apologize to him for what I said to regain his friendship? I have been invited to a party and asked to bring a boy friend. Would it be proper for me to ask him?

BROWN EYES.

Brown Eyes: Since you are at fault it is your place to apologize for your hastiness. The fact that this boy has still a friendly manner for you is an indication of an interest that is sincere and a desire for a reconciliation. By all means apologize and do it soon, lest this boy loses his interest, as he may if you take too long to right a wrong.

Grandmother Knew

there was nothing so good for congestion and colds as mustard. But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered.

Mustard gives the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

Blow At "Gas Hawks"

Columbiana county cities facing the problem of coping with motorists who make a practice of driving up to the street curb and inviting unescorted girls to take a ride, should take a leaf from the book of Mayor W. L. Fogo, of Wellsville, if they expect to break up the practice.

The neighboring city's executive the other day meted out $300 in fines when four men and one woman, who were alleged to have attempted to persuade a Wellsville girl to accompany them on a so-called "joy-ride," appeared before him on charges of annoying a female. And he not only assessed the penalties, but he collected them.

East Liverpool is among the cities in which the "gas hawk" complaint is often heard. Uptown streets are dotted with unscrupulous motorists who park their cars and await for the appearance of unsuspecting victims. And the offenders are brazen about it.

A police crusade against this type of automobile drivers would make the streets safer for young girls.

Weather For Women

A French dress designer, visiting America, maintains that for facial effects as well as dress, women must know their weather. Everybody who is anybody knows, of course, how pictures in an art gallery are affected by the lighting plan. It is the same with women's faces. Only in that case, it is easier to adapt the faces to the light than the light to the faces.

Bright facial colors will do for a bright day, he says, but are bad make-up for dull days. "In cloudy weather the blonde had better use a dark red lipstick while the brunette should use a special 'electric' lipstick. Both complexion types should use violet-tinted lipsticks for evening wear. And so on, with full details of rouge and powder, which specifications it is not necessary to reproduce here.

Surely such matters should be taught in the schools. What is more essential than for women to understand the art of being beautiful? And in order to master that art, if it were properly presented, they might be persuaded in their early, plastic years to learn something about weather, which is a department of feminine education hitherto neglected.

Feet Up

It is all right hygienically, at least, for girls to lean back and park their feet higher than their heads, in the careless old American fashion formerly restricted to men. So says Miss Frances Perkins, chairman of the Industrial Board of the New York Department of Labor.

She explains that people who are much on their feet find relief in raising them up to let the blood flow the other way. This principle is now being used in industries where women have to stand at their work. There are five-minute rest periods when the workers are expected to lie down or recline, with their feet comfortably elevated.

Men seem to have always known this great truth instinctively, and acted on it. That is, American men have. Abroad it is considered extremely vulgar. At an important international conference in France a couple of years ago, the foreign delegates were scandalized when, at the conclusion of the formal proceedings, the American delegates put their feet up on the table while they lighted their cigars.

Let the women do it if they want to. They will, anyway. And then the menfolk won't be howled out any more for their inelegant posture.

Victory For Farmers

One of the chief reasons why farmer organizations have failed always has seemed to be the fear that co-operative marketing was in violation of federal statutes, but the supreme court decision sustaining the Bingham act of Kentucky, aimed to control the co-operative marketing of tobacco, dismisses any such misgiving.

The supreme court decision sustained the right of associations or corporations to be organized with membership limited to agriculturists, under contracts or the purchase and sale of farm products. States, the decision asserted, may relieve such organizations from the operation of laws relating to monopolies and unlawful combinations.

Thus it would appear that co-operative marketing among farmers has won a signal victory. Already congress has itself recognized the utility of such co-operative associations, and now we believe that the supreme court has come to the conclusion that discriminations are permissible for the encouragement of agriculture.

The Bottomless Road

State engineers finished paving a main highway in Ohio near the Indiana border and opened it to traffic. Then 300 feet of the road fell into the earth. Thousands of tons of earth have been dumped into the hole, only to disappear. At the end of the day's work some progress seems to have been made. By morning the hole is as deep as ever.

Still more mysterious seems the fact that the level of surrounding fields has been raised.

Some scientific guessers believe that once upon a time—say a few thousand years ago—there was a lake on the spot. It became encrusted with lily-pads and grasses, soil formed over it gradually, and eventually there was deposited enough material to present a solid surface. The pounding of trucks carrying the cement and gravel, the weight of the cement mixers and rollers may have broken through this layer down to the lake of water below. This is only one of a dozen guesses. Whatever is the true explanation, truth appears to be, as often stated, stranger than fiction.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Talk to one of the garden experts in the United States Department of Agriculture and, before your eyes, vegetables flourish. You can almost taste the succulent freshness of tender asparagus, and the tang of the first green-topped onions. The apartment-house dweller wants to scare up a little plot of land in which to work miracles, and the suburbanite enthusiastically begins to lay out his garden in his mind's eye, and to order seeds, plants, and fertilizer.

While making the growing of vegetables appear not at all complicated, and weeding and digging and watering mere play, the expert warns the optimist not to start too much if he does not consider garden routine as much fun as swatting golf balls and racing over tennis courts, or not to start at all if he is not willing to devote many hours to drudgery out under the sun.

According to James H. Beattie, associate horticulturist of the department of agriculture, a half-acre garden will provide sufficient vegetables, if properly cared for, and the surplus stored, to support a family of five during the whole year. The cost of these vegetables in market ranges any place from $100 to $200. The money saved by having a home garden is not to be overlooked and is more than equalled by the pleasure enjoyed from eating vegetables which have not lost their characteristic flavor or deteriorated. With good management and good care this same half-acre planted in vegetables will be much more profitable than if planted in general farm crops.

The city gardener who can devote only a small space to vegetables might follow another scale by which it has been estimated that a plot measuring as little as twenty-five by thirty feet will furnish a sufficient quantity and variety of vegetables to supply one person for a whole year. Multiplying this area by the number of persons to be fed will produce the number of feet necessary for a family garden.

Now is the proper time to plant indoors, or, in the case of larger gardens where great quantities are necessary, in property built hot beds, seeds of tomatoes, early cabbage, celery, lettuce, eggplant, peppers, sweet potatoes, Lima beans, cucumbers, squash, and onions. By doing this it will be possible to enjoy a greater supply of fresh vegetables at least three weeks sooner than if the seeds had first been planted out of doors. Waste is dispensed with because practically all such plants flourish, and thinning out is unnecessary. Thus while the gardener is impatiently waiting for the cold to leave the ground as well as the air, he can spend his time to advantage.

There is no use, agree gardeners, in attacking soil which is still cold and wet, for seeds planted in it will rot, and exposing the wet clods to the air causes them to cake and require much manipulation to make them provide the light dust which should always surround vegetables. A government bulletin prepared by Mr. Beattie classifies planting times in four groups, according to the date of the last killing frost in the Spring, and contains charts naming the earliest safe dates for planting in various sections of the United States. The latest safe planting dates for crops that will have time to mature before killing Fall frosts are also suggested.

Q. Is there a Federal law which prohibits the issuance of a check for less than one dollar? A. U.

A. There is a Federal law stating that "no person shall make, issue, circulate, or pay out any note, check, memorandum, token, or other obligation for a less sum than one dollar, intended to circulate as money or to be received as used in lieu of lawful money of the United States and every person so offending shall be fined not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, at the discretion of the court." Many individuals and even the government make checks for an amount of the check to the person the check is made payable to. A check is not lawful money and consequently can not be passed as lawful money. A check is a personal credit instrument used in place of money.

Q. In what kind of climate will the English walnut flourish? R. M. C.

A. The species originated in southwestern Asia and has been and is an important cultivation in the United States since 1890. It is successfully only in the far western States, mainly in California, Oregon, and southwestern Washington. The principal center is around Los Angeles in southern California. Planting is constantly being increased in central California, northern Oregon, and contiguous territory north of Portland. It should be grown under 2000 feet of altitude. The climatic requirements are moderate but uniform temperatures, considerable moisture, and freedom from radical drops in temperature.

Q. If a number of silver coins become fused together in a fire, but are still recognizable, could they be redeemed? H. C.

A. If they prove to be genuine the Treasury of the United States will redeem them.

Q. How should the visiting card of a woman, who has divorced her husband read? W. H. A.

A. She may use the full name of her husband if she chooses. Usually she prefers, if her name was Anna Brown, and her married name is Smith, to have her cards engraved Mrs. Brown Smith or Mrs. Anna Brown Smith.

Q. How many songs did Ernest Ball write? S. H. A. He composed approximately 300 songs. "Mother Machree," "Love Me and the World is Mine," and "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold" are among the most popular.

Q. Do the shells of eggs admit air? S. N. C. A. They are porous and permit evaporation of moisture and gases and admit oxygen which is necessary for the development of life in the chick.

East Liverpool Review Offers a Booklet On Useful Books

There is no more important problem for the parents of growing children than the supervision of their reading.

But books for children are difficult to choose. The little ones should be given only books by the great child-lovers, and child-understanding authors which hold true to the standards which govern good literature and good art.

There are many books that come under the above classification. The best of them are listed in One Thousand Useful Books, a booklet which this Bureau has for distribution.

ABROAD With McIntire

PARIS, March 12.—The Latin Quarter continues to provoke smiles in the same fashion as Greenwich Village. It displays its ridiculous side and the real cultural ferment stirring underneath is rarely seen. Only comic posters and the still-born "arty" what-nots are on parade.

The Cafe du Dome remains the Montparnasse Mecca with the Rotonde across the street and Le Select down the block catching the overflow. Here the boys and girls referred to at home as "studying abroad" wear berets and smocks and pile up the saucers.

Every freak item of art finds immediate following. The young man with latched boots and velvet hat slipping his period is a paleo-meditationist. This school will just "meditate" for years before doing anything in the way of actual physical effort. Sometimes they never get around to it.

The young girl with the Dutch bob who wears a robe and sandals and puffs a little cigar is identified with the neo-Something or other. She makes her way through the tables of the Dome like a line-plunging full-back—not showing off, you understand, just thinking great big thoughts. And always Kiki, the Dome hoyden.

Two girls in mannish attire with swagger sticks and monocles debouch from the Metro. They stop as inconspicuously as matinee idols on the curb and discuss something that causes them tremendously. They slap each other on the back in fashion, light cigarettes and move away.

Then there are these youths with fuzz on their jaws trimmed pointedly who wear the wide black hats of Boulevard St. Michel. They call each other Rene, Pierre and Andre, punctuate their talk with frequent "Vol-las" and "Alors" and eagerly await the monthly check from self-sacrificing parents in Twin Oaks, Noh.

It is but fair to say all this is the "side show." Hundreds of young men and women are toiling earnestly in the attics and art schools to furnish the world with greater artistic beauty. But they are rarely seen around the Dome.

The King and Queen of Afghanistan are in Paris and native flags of their country fly from every building. Nothing so thrills Paris as a touch of royalty. Aside from reviving flustering monarchistic hopes, it gives the town another excuse for a holiday. I have been here 10 days and there have been four fetes with all stores and public buildings closed. A Paris reporter invited me to one of the public receptions but I don't speak Afghan well.

My wife just sacrificed a thumb nail in a French window. I had a feeling that would happen. From now on I intend to sneak upon them wearing boxing gloves.

The law against raising rents in Paris ends shortly and then it is predicted rent prices will be no different from New York. No more $50 a year apartments.

My favorite street is rue Mouffetarde which seems to be hiding its mean shabbiness back of the Pantheon. Lisle Bell discovered it on a Sunday morning stroll several years ago and ran all the way out to Avenue Henri Martin to tell me and I notice it figures in a recent novel by Robert Service. If a street can scowl, it does. It is just wide enough for a single taxicab and is solid with low drinking dens. Here one sees the picturesque Apache with his fancy muffer and long visored cap. And women with matted hair and blood-shot eyes so steeped in vice they appear bestial. It slopes down to a market which collects jabbering housewives who bargain in soups like chattering parrots. Residents of Mouffetarde eat horse meat and live in this squalid world of their own and seldom leave it. The air is fetid with stale wine and decaying vegetables. In upstairs hovels live many "sewer rats" of Paris who do not smell so sweet, either.

Paris "sniffles" through the winter. The clinging damp seems to create a collective and continuous head cold and nobody cares.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

This is a beautiful day. I am on a train between Pittsburgh and Washington. The sun shines brightly and I long to be out on the hills instead of in this car, comfortable as it is.

I sometimes wonder if country people enjoy their privileges as they should. Born on a farm, I know the disadvantages of farm life as well as its attractions. Its monotony, its isolation, its hard, seasonal labor, its unfair economic conditions—all these I am familiar with, of course.

But modern invention has done much for the farmer and his family. The automobile, the telephone, the rural mail delivery, and, particularly, the radio—these have revolutionized farm life. The church, the movie, the shops, the relatives, are all within easy reach.

Cheap electricity and its transmission throughout the farm sections will be the next step to improve farm conditions. The electric dish-washer and ironer and churner and sewing machine will lighten the labor of the farm house.

The other day I had a visit with one of my cousins, the housewife in a real country home. She is a famous cook, the old-fashioned glorious kind. To my amazement, my cousin was in rhapsodies of delight over an electric stove just installed. She had taken to it as a duck does to water.

No more wood to fetch, no more fires to build, no more smoke fumes, no more uneven temperatures—here is a device that makes baking scientifically perfect. These, in effect, were the enthusiastic utterances of Cousin May.

I am in favor of each and every invention that will lighten the labor and add to the joys of the farm women. They have had the hardest of lives and because of sacrifices deserve all that science can do to help them.

Yet, do you know, you couldn't get one of them to admit that the farm life is anything but perfect? They glory in tribulation, and we love them for their spunk.

But whether they welcome my interference or not, I want to urge all farmers to turn aside from corn and turnips for the moment and take a look at the farm kitchens.

Wouldn't it make the room a lot pleasanter if it had another window? You and the boys could cut the space and fit the frame. The sash can be found at the lumber yard. Make it right, so there won't be a lot of cold air rushing in around it.

What about the well and the cistern? Are the pumps in the kitchen, or on the kitchen porch? It doesn't cost much to connect up the water supply and to place the pump in a convenient spot. It will save "Ma" and the girls a lot to discomfort and hard colds to have the pump indoors.

Have you thought of damming up the stream or putting a reservoir at the spring, so water can be piped to the house? I did that and we have just as comfortable bathrooms at the farm as we do in town.

Perhaps the kitchen chimney needs to be cleaned or a new stove installed. You may be told, "It is good enough," but don't you believe it. You will get a lot of new dishes, pies and things, if the stove works just right.

Help to lighten the labors and thus to improve the health of the good housewife. She will live years longer if you do this and will be happy to think that you have her welfare at heart, as of course you have.

Votes for Flappers.

The final measure to place British women on political equality with men is facetiously called the "votes-for-flappers" bill and it is to become a law in time to permit all women over 21 to vote in the next British election. Prime Minister Baldwin has promised it. And the promise is sufficient to prevent anyone from expressing resentment in contemplation of a mysterious distinction which the prime minister makes. "I have," says Mr. Baldwin, "as much faith in the instinct of woman as I have in the sense of man." A sensitive critic might ask if women lack sense and if man lacks instinct, but probably no one is going to be so persnickety.

In 1918 woman suffrage became established in Great Britain on its present basis with women over 30 years of age permitted to vote at any election. The age requirement for women remained at 21. It was a silly distinction, as everyone knows that women mature mentally earlier than men. The average girl of 21 is brighter than the average male; indeed the old standards fixed eighteen as the age of female maturity as against 21 for the lads.

Hereafter woman suffrage in Great Britain will mean really what it ought to mean and not merely a suffrage for advanced dames and splinters. Here in the United States we never thought of excluding the flappers. We do not do things in that way. When we are convinced that a thing is right we do it all at once instead of by chunks or slices. The Briton moves more cautiously, but eventually he gets there. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

One Detail is Missing.

One item, not unimportant, is missing from the current accounts of the young man who is credited with two hundred successful robberies in 1924, who was paroled from the state reformatory at the beginning of this year after some months' confinement there, and who then, so the police say, broke into fifteen stores and dwellings before he was again apprehended. Who paroled him?

Governors, judges and pardoning boards get a good deal of satisfaction out of dramatizing themselves in the role of a benevolent providence, and a chorus of acclaim goes up from sentimentalists when they turn an offender loose ahead of his time. In the case in point fifteen innocent persons pay the penalty for an act of foolish clemency. If the name of the official who gave a criminal license to go and steal again were always made known, there would be a chance that responsibility would replace its opposite in the exercise of the pardoning power. —Cincinnati Times Star.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

What sort of person are you when you are traveling? Grouchy, snappy and discourteous? Little things annoy you and you scramble to your seat-mate, to the conductor, to the porter, to any one who will listen.

You are prone to criticize the train employees for inattention, for little imaginary discourtesies.

Your fellow travelers who try to be affable and kind are treated to a recital of your grievances.

You really want to appear superior to those traveling with you.

While it is likely that you are not much, if any, above the majority who surround you.

Perhaps you have a little more money than education.

But if your money makes you look down upon the general run of those you meet while traveling, you are very poor indeed.

You are not only not worth knowing, but you are failing to get enjoyment out of association with humanity that might be valuable to you.

MRS. H. F. LAUGHLIN IS ELECTED BIBLE LITERARY CLUB PRESIDENT

Dinner for Members of Esther Bible Club Follows Annual Session in Miss Maude Baum's Home.

The Bible Literary club, meeting Saturday afternoon in the home of Miss Maude Baum, Seventh street, elected the following officers:

President, Mrs. H. F. Laughlin; first vice-president, Mrs. Frank Crook; second vice president, Mrs. W. L. Taylor; recording secretary, Mrs. W. T. McNutt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. T. Bowers and treasurer, Mrs. B. D. Kenny.

Response to roll call was a business quotation. At 6 o'clock the members entertained the Esther Bible club with a dinner. Spring flowers were used throughout the home and lavender sweet peas were used in the appointments of the table. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mesdames Charles Boyce, Warren Wolfe, Harry T. Logan, C. C. Ashbaugh and Will

King. During the dinner the orchestra from the eighth grade at Neville Institute played, under the direction of Miss Ruth Manderbach.

Special guests were Mrs. Martha Goodwin, Miss Isabelle McCann, Ruth Manderbach, Martha Calleebe, and Thelma Baum, of Wellsville.

The social hours were spent with music and games.

The next meeting will be held March 24 in the home of Mrs. Charles T. Larkins on Thompson avenue.

Hutchinson-Neal Wedding

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Kathryn Hutchinson, daughter of Mrs. Mary Hutchinson of Eighth street, this city, and John Neal, son of William Neal of Wellsville. The ceremony was performed Saturday evening in the parsonage of the Chesapeake church with Rev. J. F. Ward officiating.

The bride was gown in Copenhagen blue crepe-de-chine, with hat to match. The bridegroom is employed by the American Sheet & Tin Plate company of Wellsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal will reside at 209 Broadway, this city.

Real Home Cooking

Big Attraction at

Pop-Inn Restaurant

If they could all cook like "Mom" Weldon, it wouldn't be necessary to have a leap year now and then in order to give the girls a chance. The boys who know their flapjacks will cop off a good cook on first sight.

That's the big attraction at Pop Inn Restaurant—Mom's culinary products. She surely knows how to turn out a mess of winter pancakes that fairly melt in your mouth, or a skillful skillet of fried potatoes, steaks and chops done to a tasty, tantalizing turn, and, oh yes, all those delicious little side dishes that only a home cook knows how to fix.

While many restaurants and eating houses here and there over the countryside are advertised as emporiums of home cooking, here at Pop Inn Restaurant is an original "home cook."

The Pop Inn Restaurant serves meals at all hours and also carries a complete line of soft drinks, candy, etc.

It is conveniently located, for home and transient trade, in Carolina avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, next to the Lincoln Service station.

Fada is Reliable;

Home Electric Will

Tell You About it

It won't be long now—one month from yesterday, to be exact—before major league clubs will be clouting the ball in the opening game of the season.

We can't all go, but we can surely be there with a Fada radio.

The Fada gives you reliability along with many other advantages.

The Home Electric company, 455-57 Mulberry street, East End, electrical contractors, and sales agents for electrical supplies and appliances and radios, can give you complete information on the Fada.

You can look at a Fada and see the idea back of Fada radio furniture, models—to build pieces of furniture beautiful, useful, intimately at home in rooms of taste and refinement—and to place within these masterpieces of cabinet work the most perfect radio that it is possible to build.

Go to the Home Electric company if you are thinking of a radio set. The Home Electric people will be glad to entertain inquiries.

Lincoln Service

Station Important

Stop on New Road

Providing a means of reducing the running time between the East Liverpool-Chester district, the new highway to Pittsburgh will be well traveled this summer.

You can be certain, too, of a quick careful trip if you fuel up and attend to other mechanical necessities at the Lincoln service station, Chester.

Oiling and greasing, cleaning the lubricant in the crankcase, washing, keeping brakes at the highest point of efficiency and many other service items are bound to increase the popularity of the Lincoln among Chester-Pittsburgh travelers as well as the home patrons.

The Lincoln is modernly equipped for washing cars, too, and keeping the car washed at this time of the year, by the way, is good advice. Winter's snow and ice are hard on the finish.

You can get your brakes relined here with Raybestos, battery serviced and obtain practically anything in the accessory line.

The Lincoln Service Station, located in Carolina avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, administers its modern services seven days a week for the benefit of the motoring public.

Enterprise's Coal

Returns Dividends

In Heat and Health

Those individuals who used Enterprise coal during the winter that is just coming to a close don't need to read advertisements about it. They know it's good. They've used it and undoubtedly stock up again before it gets warm. They'll have Enterprise coal on hand when the first surprise snow flurry comes next winter, and even at that we may have some more yet before they play ball.

There are various kinds of coal, bad and good. The Enterprise Coal company, in Walnut street at the Horn switch, sells good coal, such as the Pocohontas, Pittsburgh and West Virginia splint.

The Enterprise Coal company is equipped with a fleet of trucks that make it possible to obtain quick service on coal deliveries to any place in the city.

You are certain of courtesy and a laudable effort to be of immediate service when you place your order with the Enterprise.

Healthful Heating

And Economy Make

Stanton a Winner

If you have struggled along this long winter without a furnace, in your home, this winter, you probably can get along now until next fall, but, to be honest about it, don't you think you could warm up to this furnace proposition.

Take this Stanton furnace for instance—it has everything you can reasonably expect in a furnace.

The Stanton has a deep, straight fire box, large combustion chamber and long fire travel—the three things that combine for fuel economy.

The Stanton burns any kind of fuel, but it is especially adapted to the cheaper grades of coal. It will warm all the house at a small cost for fuel.

The Stanton can be as easily controlled as a lamp. Everything about it is perfect for convenience and service.

Not the cheapest, but the best, if you heat your house the Stanton way, you get a system carefully planned—one that will be clean, effective, economical and healthful.

General Repairing

Although specializing to a great extent in the designing, production and repairing of machinery for the pottery and ceramic trade in general, the Cain Machine Company still remains a "first aid" shop for general repair operations in the East Liverpool district.

No job in their own particular line as engineers and machinists is too small to solicit their immediate attention and none, on the other hand, is large enough to surpass the bounds of their skill and workmanship.

Into practically all parts of the United States and into Canada and other countries as well, have gone the handiwork of this East Liverpool institution and the first job is always the forerunner of others.

Carefully executed work, a consummate skill and understanding of their trade is bespoken in every piece of work that leaves the shop. The high standard of quality set by the directing heads of the company must be met in every particular. Orders of this kind, well done, flourish and generally grow into more orders.

TWO WELLVILLE MEN ARRESTED FOLLOWING ROBBERY

SUSPECTS IN HILLCREST JOB TO FACE MAYOR

William Daniels and Guy McCullough Accused.

LOOT RECOVERED

Wilcoxon Store is Entered Twice Within Three Days.

Charged with breaking and entering following the robbery of the Frank Wilcoxon grocery store, at Hillcrest, Saturday night, the second time the place has been entered within three days, William Daniels, 35, and Guy McCullough, 22, will face Mayor Wallace L. Fogo tonight in Wellsville.

Prompt action of Wilcoxon prevented the Saturday night robbery.

Two men, according to police, rapped at the front door of Wilcoxon's home, near the store, Saturday night at 11 o'clock.

When Wilcoxon answered, the men said they wanted him to open his store and get them some groceries. Wilcoxon told them to get away from his place and immediately went to a telephone and called the fire station.

Chief of Police John Fultz, Mayor W. L. Fogo and Patrolmen Reed, Hickman and Duncan promptly jumped into an automobile and a few moments later were in Hillcrest.

As their car rounded the curve at the top of the hill, they saw two men coming from the store. The suspects dropped their loot and darted into adjacent fields. Police chased them and arrested Daniels.

McCullough, Daniels' alleged confederate, was arrested last night.

Daniels, police said, was carrying a hammer, a flashlight and several cans of vegetables.

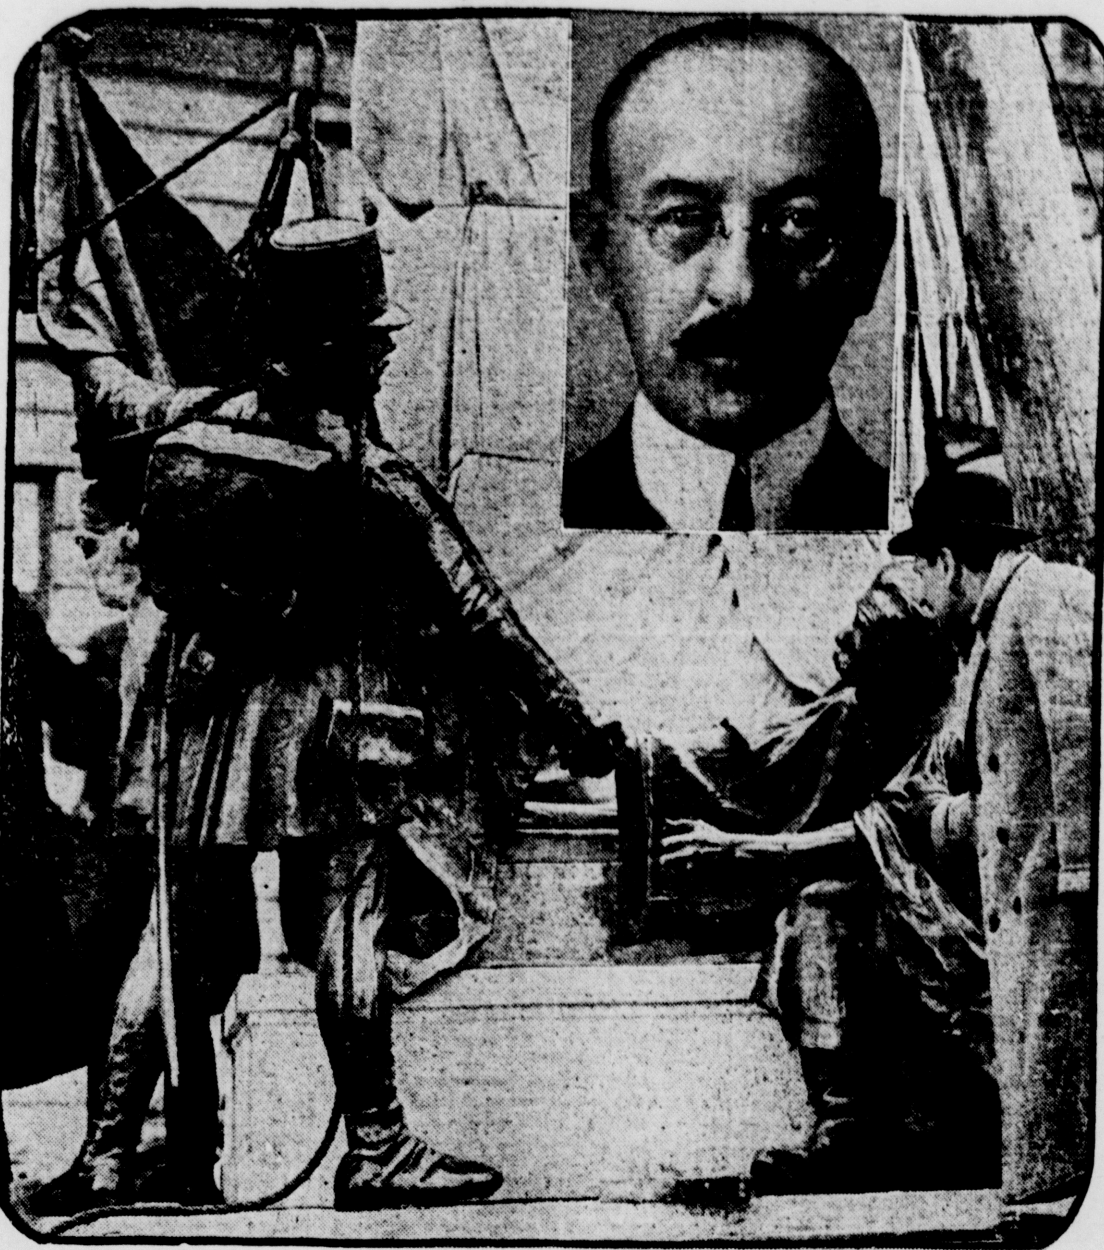

Ten pounds of meat and other eatables, wrapped up in an overcoat, were found in front of the store. Sixty-two packages of tobacco were found in the rear.

According to authorities, two men attempted first to break into the store by way of the front door. They crashed a padlock on the outside, but a night lock barred their way. They then went to a rear window and broke through the glass.

Both the Stevenson and Birbeck families, living in houses adjoining the store, were away.

The Wilcoxon store was also entered last Thursday night, but the owner, it is said, did not report the offense to the police.

Thousands of Countrymen Honor National Patriot of Hungary

As March 15th approaches, loyal Hungarians and other admirers are preparing to celebrate the unveiling at New York of the above statue of Louis Kossuth, foremost patriot of Hungary. Louis Moray, Hungarian sculptor, is shown at the monument, which he has just finished, while Bruno Lessing (inset) gives you the history of this great hero.

evening in the high school auditorium.

According to the story a certain Senor Dectorio desires his daughter to wed toreadors but the daughters prefer two Spanish gentlemen of their acquaintance and their efforts in proving the merits of their case make up the plot of the operetta.

The cast for the operetta follows: Senor Dectorio, a wealthy farmer and great admirer of toreadors—Billy Rahter.

Benita and Juanita, his twin daughters—Geraldine Arnold and Phyllis Alton.

Juan and Pablo, admirers of Benita and Juanita—Billy Paisley and James Turner.

Senor Swatco and Senor Whackco, beggars masquerading as toreadors—Willard Havelock and Clarence Weaver.

Dolores and Maria, friends of Juanita and Benita—Della Brown and Eleanor Johnston.

A number of chorus numbers add to the attractiveness of the performance.

In response to roll call, members will quote Biblical verses containing the word "Mercy."

HILL AWARDED BRIDGE JOB

Ada Contractor to Build Yellow Creek Span.

John Hill, of Ada, low bidder on the construction of a concrete bridge over Little Yellow Creek, today was awarded the contract for the project. His bid was $51,175.55.

Machinery that has been in service on the grading of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road between Williamsport and Rogers is now being moved to Wellsville by the contractor.

The cost of the bridge will be provided by federal, state and county funds, with Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Co., sharing the expense.

Herman C. Armstrong, Lisbon, who was awarded the contract for the erection of a new bridge over Beaver Creek on the Lincoln highway at Lisbon, will resume work on this contract on April 1.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to thank Rev. Edward Gracy, Miss Jennie Perry, the neighbors and friends for their many kind expressions of sympathy, the donating of cars, sending of flowers and other kindnesses extended to us during the illness and following the death of our husband and father.
MRS. ANDREW FITZGERALD AND FAMILY.

Mothers, Keep Your Health Up to Par!

Mrs. Joseph DeSorbes

"I am the mother of three very healthy, strong children. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during each of my expectant periods and it kept me in fine physical condition. I was so well and my nerves were in such good shape that I was around doing all my work, never suffered any distress or bad feeling at any time and I had practically no suffering. I would not think of going through expectancy without taking the 'Favorite Prescription.' (Signed)—Mrs. Joseph DeSorbes, 33 Gary St., Ashtabula, Ohio. All druggists. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire a trial package of tablets.

"My Friend's and I Were Scared"

Effective Way Found to Break Up This Long-Standing Cold

Best fall I caught a heavy cold settled on my lungs. No medicine seemed to help it any. I lost weight, and I coughed all day. My friends and I were scared. A good neighbor brought me over a bottle of World's Tonic. She needed strength to throw off the cold and she called World's Tonic "bottle energy." More to please her than anything else, I took it as directed. That half bottle helped me wonderfully, and the next bottle cleared up the cough. After three bottles I began to gain weight, and all symptoms of the cold disappeared. I never knew a medicine so effective." Mrs. Pearl Johnston, 240 Water St., Rochester, Pa.

Sensible in All Illnesses
World's Tonic is not a specific for colds, but it broke up what by the same thing it does for any illness. It cleared away the impurities in the blood, enabled this blood to kill off the germs, and supplied just what the system needed to gain strength. Because it is so effective in chronic catarrh, in this case it was equally effective in acute catarrh.

To All Who Suffer Stomach Agony, Gas and Indigestion

All Druggists Make This Offer

Your Money Cheerfully Refunded If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

During the past year thousands of sufferers from chronic and acute indigestion have blessed the day they first heard of this grandest of all stomach medicines.

Not only will Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant tasting elixir, relieve the most acute stomach agony, but taken regularly will overcome the most chronic stomach trouble that exists.

Thousands in this part of the state know it and that is why every druggist hereabout is having such a tremendous demand for it. If your stomach keeps you feeling miserable, start to make it strong and healthy today—one bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin is guaranteed by all druggists to help you more than anything you ever tried or money back.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. He tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 96 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Mathew's original Cut Rate today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you, or costs you nothing.

"FOUR IN SEAT" DRIVING BANNED

Wellsville police will not countenance "four in a seat" driving. Saturday they arrested J. C. Holdgate, of Salem, on a charge of reckless driving. Holdgate and three others occupied one seat in a small coupe, it is said.

He paid $5 and was released. W. D. Snyder, of Tiltonville, arrested on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor, was fined $100 by Mayor W. L. Fogo. He paid $50 and made arrangements to pay the remainder.

Others arrested during the week-end on various charges and scheduled for hearing today are: Harvey Sheckler, J. E. Ammon, John Slavin, Alvin Huff, Dave Shambien, disorderly conduct; "Butch" Davidson, gambling.

MRS. HENDERSON DIES IN WEST

Mrs. D. M. Henderson, 60, former Wellsville resident, died on Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock in her home in Spokane, Washington. The body will be brought to Wellsville for burial.

Mrs. Henderson, prior to her marriage, was Miss Eria Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Jenkins, deceased, of Tenth and Main streets.

She moved from Wellsville probably 25 years ago. Last summer she spent several months with friends and relatives here. In addition to her husband, Daniel Henderson, she is survived by her step-mother, Mrs. Jennie Jenkins, of Lisbon.

Burial will be made in the family plot in Spring Hill cemetery.

REVIVAL SERVICE HERE THIS WEEK

Meetings will continue this week in the Church of Christ, Seventeenth and Commerce street, in charge of Evangelist J. Madison Wright, of Columbus. Rev. Wright will occupy the pulpit each evening this week, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. He preached last night on a theme "which covered everything in the world, which Solomon tried and found all vanity and vexation of spirit."

Summing up he declared that "the whole duty of man is to fear God and keep his commandments."

MAKE MORE MONEY

Healthy, vigorous men land life's best prizes. Buoyant step, bright eyes, clear complexion and exuberant vitality denote a system free from impurities. Constipation poisons the whole system, slows the step, saps energy, destroys confidence and cuts down the earning power.

Rid your system of constipation and its poisons. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets remove them gently, tone up the system, clear the eyes and complexion and bring back normal vigor. A compound of vegetable ingredients, prescribed to patients for 20 years in place of calomel. They act easily and quickly on bowels and liver.

Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets and keep fit for the daily grind. Thousands of happy men and women use them regularly as an aid to success in their everyday tasks. Know them by their olive color, 15c, 30c, 60c.

E. PALESTINE GIRL KILLED AT CROSSING

Miss Mildred Talbot, Teacher Struck by Train. BODY MANGLED

"Accidental Death" Verdict Returned by Coroner.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan today returned a verdict of "accidental death" in the case of Miss Mildred Talbot, 23, East Palestine school teacher, who was killed by a westbound Fort Wayne division passenger train at the Market street crossing, East Palestine, Saturday.

The girl, who taught at the Carbon Hill school, was on her way to the meeting of the Columbiana County Teachers' association at Lisbon when the accident occurred. She had just purchased her ticket and was crossing the track to the opposite side of the station when she was struck by the train.

With her skull fractured, right arm and right leg amputated and her left arm crushed, the body was picked up about 50 feet west of the crossing. It was taken to the Lowry undertaking parlors.

The victim was a daughter of A. A. Talbot, West Martin street, East Palestine. Her mother died several years ago, while a younger brother, Joseph, died last July. She graduated from the East Palestine high school in 1922 and later attended the Kent State normal school. She was a member of the United Presbyterian church.

Funeral services will be held in East Palestine tomorrow afternoon.

Baby Freezes to Death. BATTLE CREEK, Mich., March 12.—Police today are investigating the killing of a five months' old baby, whose body was found under a tub in a gully. The body was wrapped in expensive woolen blankets.

An autopsy revealed that the child had been placed under the tub alive and permitted to freeze to death.

the experts, were the worst in the history of district tournament battles. Hamilton and Dayton Silvers were the only two favorites to survive in their districts. Hamilton easily defeated Middleton, 31 to 21, and Dayton Silvers swamped its bitter rival, Dayton Steele, 57 to 24, after defeating Springfield.

"Victory Parade" Tonight Dover, in the eastern district, was touted to repeat its triumph of 1927, but fell before the whirlwind attack of the East Liverpool team which mowed down tournament opposition with ruthless consistency.

From the northeastern tournament at Akron, where West was looked on as a potential state champion, Akron South and Canton McKinley won the right to go to Columbus. South crushed West, 22 to 18, while McKinley nosed out Akron North, 20 to 18.

Toledo Libbey stopped Fostoria, 26 to 22, after Fostoria turned the biggest upset of the week-end in defeating Lima Central, 40 to 28, Fremont, a fast gambler expected to take a leading part in the state meet, downed Toledo Waite and will accompany Libbey to the finals from that section.

East Liverpool's district champions will be honored in a "Victory Parade" tonight, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Under the direction of C. W. Davis and R. G. Brian, celebrators will congregate in Broadway near the post-office. Basketball followers, students, the high school band, the team and others will make up the procession.

The trophy cup brought back by the squad will be displayed prominently. Plenty of red fire will be used to illuminate the scene.

The marchers will go west in Fifth to Monroe and then up Sixth to Broadway. Cheers, songs, yells, and band music will contribute to the celebration.

by more than $150,000,000. The company has more than 17,000,000 shares. Once that would have made the radical shiver. Now it means simply bigger and more efficient business, its chief effort being to combine higher quality with lower price.

THE Sultans of the House of Othman spent time and their subject's money, collecting jewelry and unmounted precious stones. The Turk impressed the beautiful Fatima, by letting pearls and rubies run through his fingers. She was supposed to say, in her quaint language, "Home Sultan."

THE Othman dynasty is thrown into the historical discard. Kemal rules with "one wife is enough" for motto, and uses Othman jewelry as security for a Turkish national bank. Thirty Othman sultans would turn in their graves, like electric fans, if they could know what is done in new Turkey. Woman bare-faced, men wearing derby hats and defying Mohammed's law against graven images. Kemal setting up gigantic statues of himself in many places. No one knows how many old-fashioned Turks expect, every day, a miracle rebuking such vandalism. They won't get it.

MAN is unlike other animals, not because he laughs, as some have said, but because he wears clothes and uses tools. Of the latter, the seismograph is mysteriously interesting, telling the observer of earthquakes, thousands of miles away. Prof. Tondorf, in Washington, detects an earthquake about 3,000 miles away, very violent, located probably in the East Indies.

IF it occurred on land, it must have been very destructive. Fortunately a majority of earthquakes occur in the oceans, as steep banks of submarine mountain slides roll down, gradually filling the ocean's deepest spots, making the earth more nearly round.

RADIO STOCK RISES, FALLS

Bulls and Bears Stage Dramatic Battle.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Bulls and bears staged another dramatic battle in Wall street today with Radio Corporation stock the focal point. Radio jumped 7 1/2 points to 128 within an hour after the market opened but the bears quickly countered and, amid furious trading, hammered the price down to 4 1/2 points to 123 1/2.

Radio, General Motors and United States Steel, were the star performers in the seasonally bullish market last week. Radio closing the week at 120 1/2, the highest price in its history and an advance of 26 points for the week. During the week General Motors jumped 13 1/2 to 154 1/2, and U. S. Steel advanced 4 1/2 to 147 1/2. The 126 point jump of General Motors added $250,000,000 to the market value of the outstanding stock of General Motors corporation.

Nearly 1,000,000 shares of stock were sold in the first hour this morning. U. S. Steel moved upward 2 points to 146 1/2 and General Motors revolved around its closing price of Saturday.

NAMES MOORE ENVOY TO PERU

WASHINGTON, March 12.—President Coolidge today sent to the senate for confirmation the nomination of Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh, publisher, to be American ambassador in Peru.

Moore formerly was ambassador to Spain, having been appointed by the late President Harding. Officials of the state department made mild objections to his selection to the new post because he is not a "career man," but the president made the appointment as a personal matter.

Lindy Worth Million

"We," the autobiography of the congressman's son who came to be acclaimed by congress, has been a best seller for months. Royalties have already mounted to close to $200,000, with publishers predicting a million sales before the present year is out. As an author, Lindy earned more last year than Sinclair Lewis and Willa Cather combined.

As a director of the Guggenheim Foundation for the promotion of Aeronautics, Lindy received an annuity fixed by his friends here at $100,000. His all-United States tour last fall added $225,000 more.

St. Louis Gave $35,000. St. Louis threw $35,000 at his feet for the Paris flight. And the Pan-American flight, undertaken chiefly as a tribute to his friend and admirer, Dwight Morrow, soon after the latter moved to the United States embassy at Mexico City, further increased his income for the year.

The Hubbard medal award carried $25,000 cash and a life annuity of $5,000—equal to a cash gift of more than $100,000. The Woodrow Wilson peace award, to be bestowed this month, will bring him $25,000 more. Through it all he remains a colonel in the reserve corps, the pay of which would not buy gasoline for a fellow who flew less.

virtually every flight since his return to America in June. But pilots who have escorted him declare his money is no good anywhere. Hotel managers, gasoline merchants and even taxi drivers refuse to accept his cash.

His more pessimistic friends declare that his life is charmed and that, try as he will, he cannot avoid the evil luck of amassing a second million soon.

ASK REVERSAL IN "FOX" CASE

Hickman Prepares for Fight to Escape Noose.

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—Attorneys for William Edward Hickman sprang with renewed vigor today to the task of preparing the appeal which they will argue before the California Supreme court in an attempt to win a reversal of the Superior court verdict which resulted in a sentence of death for the slayer of 12-year-old Marion Parker.

While his counsel makes ready for higher court battle to save him from the gallows, Hickman and his former pal in crime, Wilby Hunt, will appear before Judge Elliott Craig tomorrow morning to hear sentence of life imprisonment pronounced for the murder of C. Ivy Toms, druggist.

The two youths were found guilty of the Toms murder by a superior court jury Saturday. The conviction carries with it a life term.

Although Hickman's attorneys have not definitely revealed their intentions with regard to the Toms verdict, it is thought that they will not appeal from it since the life of the "Fox" is not at stake. Thus they will be able to concentrate their energies on the fight to prevent Hickman's execution on April 27, the date fixed.

MAGICIAN WILL BE ROTARY GUEST

William C. Smith, Columbus professional magician, will present a slight of hand performance in connection with the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow noon.

Smith is being brought to East Liverpool by C. W. Arnold, Wellsview insurance dealer and a personal friend, who will be chairman of the meeting.

GREEK TORPEDO BOAT IS SUNK

ATHENS, March 12.—The torpedo boat Panderna was sunk today when it struck a bank near Aegina island.

The crew was saved. The commander of the vessel, however, killed himself, feeling ashamed that he should have piloted his craft onto a bank.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 12.—After a brief pause at the opening of the market today, the speculative industrial stocks which featured last week's sensational advance resumed their forward movement under the lead of radio, Westinghouse and International Nickel.

Radio plunged ahead to 128 for a new gain of 7 1/2 points in the first hour, as rumors of serious embarrassment and losses to the bearish professionals circulated through Wall street, taking advantage of the extremely small volume of outstanding stock. The heavy short interest and the air of mystery surrounding the present operations of the Radio Corporation a powerful pool or clique in outside speculative points have been credited with another sensational market coup, rushing up the price of the stock 40 points in the last three weeks.

General Motors was under selling pressure in the first period, and declined about a point to 126 1/2; Westinghouse, a large stockholder in Radio, dropped back 3 points to 101, but the stock rallied sharply to above 105. U. S. Steel advanced 2 points on the strength of the favorable forward-tongue report issued at the close of Saturday's market. Strong buying demand for General Electric forced the price of that stock to 140, the highest level of the year. International Nickel soared 4 points to above 91 in active trading. This stock is also believed to have harbored a large short interest.

Wall street's bullish attitude was strengthened by the 122,000 ton increase in the forward bookings of the U. S. Steel corporation, the cutting down of unemployment over the week-end, the expansion in important lines of business and the continued influx of money to the financial district.

OSCAR DUPLER IS ARRESTED IN GAMBLING RAID AT KENSINGTON

Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter and Squad Seize Table Covers, Cards and Poker Chips.

LISBON, March 12.—Charged with keeping a place where gambling is permitted, Oscar Dupler of Kensington was arrested late Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter. Dupler is to be arraigned before Justice M. K. Zimmerman Monday evening. Constable Clarence Wetzel and Marshal George Greves of Lisbon and Deputy Game Warden Len Boring accompanied Kindsvatter. The officers found a complete gambling outfit, including table covers, six decks of cards, a box of poker chips, a three-deck case of seven-ounce bottle and two empty five-gallon cans.

Women Discuss Church Work. LISBON, March 12.—Co-operative church work in this district was discussed at a recent meeting in the Lisbon Presbyterian church. Mrs. Howard E. Lamb, representative of the Ohio Council of Churches, presided.

TEACHERS HEAR DR. M'MILLAN

Miami University Executive Cites Duty of Instructor.

LISBON, March 12.—"The most important duty of a teacher is her ability to instill into the scholar the ability to acquire power to obtain spontaneous thinking," declared Dr. J. V. McMillan, of Teachers' college, Miami University, Oxford, O., in addressing the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Teachers' association. "Business needs a new adjustment of ethical ability, to develop right on great moral and social questions. The power to develop by thinking should be taught by the teacher."

During the afternoon session, Dr. McMillan spoke on "Jesus, the Greatest Teacher."

"I was glad to return to Lisbon again," Dr. McMillan declared at the close of the session. "I was here two years ago and I admired the spirit of the teaching corps. In the rural school section, your county has a great leader in Supt. H. C. Leonard."

Charge Dismissed.

LISBON, March 12.—Walter Bradbury, arrested on a peace warrant sworn out by Dayton Rigdon, Lisbon, was discharged when arraigned Saturday before Justice M. K. Zimmerman. Testimony disclosed that Rigdon was the aggressor.

Havana has had an unusual number of tourists from this country during the present season.

GOOD AT BOTH—BANKING, TENNIS

Eleanor Goss, fifth ranking tennis player of the country, varies the modern feminine mode of combining wifely cares and a business career by joining business duties and a professional sport. She appears here (at the left) winning the recent Florida state championship. At the right she is shown at her desk in a New York banking house. (International Newswire)

By SHIRLEY KIRKE

Miss Eleanor Goss, for many years regarded as one of America's leading tennis stars, has begun a new career in a field far removed from sunny tennis courts. The "call of business" so frequently answered by athletic females and society "debs" in this active age has met response in Miss Goss' decision to enter New York's money mart.

Tennis, however, will not be neglected by this energetic American girl. She fully intends to continue her career on the courts and to be represented in the Women's Nationals here next summer.

Outdoor sports, Miss Goss believes, are quite essential to one's success in business enterprises. Health, vigor and a well-developed sense of sportsmanship acquired in grueling tennis matches contribute clear heads, poise and common sense to the Monday morning office routine.

SOLONS PLAN STREET PAVING

LISBON, March 12.—It is likely that the Lisbon council will give early consideration to the improvement of several streets this year. Last summer a dozen streets were surfaced.

Improvement of Beaver street from Chestnut north to the Lisbon-Salem road or North Markt street may be of macadam, as the property will not stand for an assessment for a concrete top. Improvement of this street in icy weather will eliminate use of Market street grade, which at times is dangerous during the winter season.

Several streets between Washington and Chestnut may be included in this proposed program.

Hollinger Held for Grand Jury. LISBON, March 12.—Charged with breaking and entering by Mrs. John Hirst, Paul Hollinger of Lisbon has been held for the April grand jury by Mayor Robert B. Clark.

The court set a bond at $500 which the defendant furnished.

Marriage Licenses.

LISBON, March 12.—A marriage license has been issued to Joseph Mikesall of New Springfield and Miss Gertrude Mollenkopf of East Palestine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mollenkopf. They were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon U. P. church by the Rev. J. M. Cameron.

COUNTY AGENT DRAFTS PROGRAM

LISBON, March 12.—Program for the spring and summer season is being arranged by County Agent Floyd Lower. Within a few weeks there will be spraying demonstrations, and then tours among poultry farms. Later there will be a tour of farmers into other counties.

Continued to Lower, these tours have an immense educational value.

Neglected coughs and colds very serious in after effects

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

BUILDS NEW STRENGTH TO FIGHT DISEASE GERMS AND RESTORE HEALTH

THE danger from coughs and colds does not end when the cold is gone. The vitality becomes low, resistance is weak, the entire system is run down. Disease germs attack the overworked organs. Such conditions often develop lingering sickness and debility.

The run down system then needs such a body builder as Father John's Medicine which restores weakened tissue and gives fighting strength. Seventy years of success. No alcohol or harmful drugs.

Steubenville, Maytag Sales and Service.

Maytag dealers everywhere follow the standardized rule of sending a Maytag to a home to do a week's washing free, and without obligation of any kind. This is the way all Maytag Gyroform Washers are sold. The Maytag must sell itself solely upon its performance in the home. It must wash everything to your entire satisfaction. Must wash everything quicker, easier and cleaner than other washers. Must wash everything—even collars, cuffs and wristbands, without hand-rubbing. Must prove to you, in your own home, that it is the most helpful home-laundrying unit you have ever seen or used.

70% of the day's work is crowded into 4 hours!

Yet morning listlessness is a frequent handicap, say school and business heads

School authorities declare children's progress is too often delayed by "draggy" mornings and urge that more attention be paid to breakfasts

Today there is an entirely new understanding of how important a part is played in school or business progress by the kind of breakfast you eat.

In schools, they put the heaviest strain on children in the forenoon. 70% of the hard studies are crowded into the morning session, national investigations prove. And heads of big industrial organizations say the heavy load in the working world falls in the same period.

Educators, business heads and leading editors are therefore urging better preparation for these strenuous hours. They say that "draggy" mornings, whether in school-room or office, are a serious handicap that should be prevented by thoughtful attention to balanced breakfasts.

For real, sustaining nourishment, food experts agree that oatmeal has unique values. They call it the best balanced of the cereals; because it supplies not only energy—but tissue-building material, vitamins and minerals! And bran in its most appetizing form!

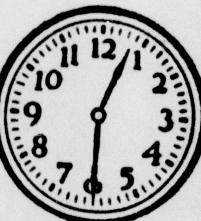

Your own sense of taste will show you what a difference there is in oatmeal flavor. If you have never tasted Quick Mother's Oats you will notice instantly its rich, satisfying quality. "This tastes better, somehow," the children will exclaim. And like thousands of others, you will never again be satisfied with any less-carefully-milled oats.

Quick Mother's Oats is made from the cream of the oat crop, milled by skillful methods developed through 50 years of experience. And now you can get it in two forms: the regular kind, and Quick Mother's Oats which cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes. Now this hot, nourishing breakfast can be prepared faster than toast!

Start tomorrow to see how this breakfast "stands by" you through the whole morning.

Business pressure makes no allowances for morning listlessness

Speaking of Operations

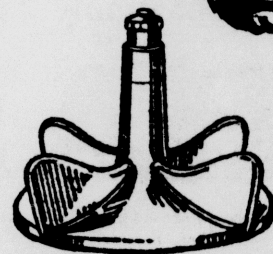

Many a serious operation could have been avoided had the patient consulted a reputable physician at the first indication that something was wrong. Be fair to yourself and remember the adage, "A stitch in time saves nine." When the physician writes a prescription bring it to us to be filled. We are specialists at this work.

Herche's Drug Store

The Haag Vortex, or any other Haag model—electric or gas—can be placed in your home for a small down payment. Convenient monthly terms will be gladly arranged.

"Such lovely Snow-white washing!"

Judge it on these Points

We invite a comparison between the Haag Vortex and any other washer by any or all of the following standards:

1. EFFICIENCY—Washes clothes snow-white without soaking, boiling or hand-rubbing.
2. SPEED and CAPACITY—Washes 60 pounds of dry clothes an hour, 5 pounds 5 minutes.
3. SAFETY—The exclusive patented Haag agitator protects even the delicatest garments from harm.
4. DURABILITY—Built for a "lifetime of carefree service." Haag quality has proven itself in thousands of homes for over 16 years.
5. APPEARANCE—Retains its beauty indefinitely—the armored tub is dent-proof outside and stain-proof inside.

"I never saw clothes so beautiful and white. How do you do it?"

"I don't do it—but my Haag Vortex does."

"You don't mean to say that you put your lingerie in a machine?"

"Most surely I do, now that I have a Haag Vortex. I never could before. But now I never worry about torn fabrics or lost buttons. The Haag Vortex has certain patented features (Jim could explain them to you) that protect clothes as well as clean them."

A trial in your own home will convince you of the truth that "money cannot buy a finer washer." Yet, with all its exclusive features, and the exquisite precision with which it is built, it costs no more than other standard machines; Haag quality is nationally famous—and the Haag Vortex is Haag's supreme achievement.

Phone or write the nearest Haag dealer for a home demonstration—without obligation, of course!

BOND CONVICTED OF EMBEZZLEMENT

John C. Bond, former state auditor, was found guilty of charges of larceny and embezzlement of state funds by a jury Saturday in Kanawha county intermediate court.

The verdict was returned after the jury had deliberated an entire day and parts of two others upon evidence submitted in a trial that lasted more than two weeks.

The indictment under which the former states auditor was brought to trial was based upon an investigation instituted by Governor Gore a year and a half ago into the affairs of the auditor's office.

He was indicted on charges of embezzlement, larceny and forgery, but was brought to trial only upon one embezzlement and larceny indictment involving charges of misappropriation of $4,070 of state funds. Testimony introduced, however, for the purpose of showing the "method, intent and purpose" of the defendant brought the total amount to approximately $10,000, according to an estimate made by prosecution counsel. Bond, at the trial, made a general denial to the charges, and his counsel, in arguing the case, sought to convince its members that the former auditor was a victim of political enemies.

Joe Hurst's School Boys Qualify For Buckeye Cage Finals

Wallop Coshocton Team In Muskingum Wind-up After Trouncing Dover

Crawford and Bloor Selected on All-Tournament First Team; English Captain of Second Team.

Joe Hurst's East Liverpool high school passers today are basketball champions of the eastern district of Ohio and, because of it, will compete with the nine best teams in the Buckeye state at Columbus on next Friday and Saturday, as a result of their championship victories at Muskingum college. What matters a county championship?

Bowling over Cambridge, New Philadelphia and Dover, and then trouncing Coshocton under foot in the final Saturday night, the Potters showed one of the most powerful attacks that was exhibited during the entire tournament.

Only their first game, that with Cambridge, was any way close and even that was won by a seven-point margin. Going into the opener the locals were nervous and impatient. With the heat of battle in their blood they forgot and for the next four games played basketball that could not lose.

Dover state champions, the cream of the Buckeye scholastic realm last spring, and touted to repeat this year, had only a chance against the Potters, and that was all. At no time during the semi-final contest with the East Liverpool delegation were they really in the running, save for the first minutes.

Dover was a pre-game favorite but the Potters got away to a flying start, largely on account of Guard Eddie Bloor's offensive play in which English and Kirkham collaborated. The latter took Wildblood's place at a forward and began to score points as though he had played there all his life.

Wildblood was chased to the bench in the second quarter on personal fouls, while Kirkham and Bloor were likewise banished in the final.

Lowe, Jones and Beltner, all stars of the Dover 1927 champs, failed to score a single field goal.

In the final scuffle, the Potters gave Coshocton only four field goals in the first half, while they collected nine themselves to sew up the game.

Approximately 125 East Liverpool basketball fans hit Muskingum almost in a body Saturday night for the final contest and, as a result, the Potters were virtually playing before a home crowd in that last contest.

Another delegation, striving for ring-side seats at the semifinal, arrived just a few minutes too late and was locked out. Even standing room was gone.

Silver trophy cup, symbolical of the sectional championship, was awarded by tourney officials to the East Liverpool team following the final game.

Gold basketball medal was also given to each member of the championship aggregation and silver medals to the Coshocton runners-up.

COSHOCTON—PLAY BY PLAY

First Quarter. Order started the scoring for Coshocton with a field goal. Bloor scored East Liverpool's first point, a foul. Wildblood evened the count with a foul. Bloor scored a field goal and S. Plummer, Coshocton guard, evened it up with one of the same kind. English scored from scrimmage. Stull duplicated. Bloor dropped in a two-pointer followed in succession by Felt and Wildblood.

Second Quarter. Wildblood scored on a field goal. S. Plummer made a foul. The next 10 points followed a steady Blue and White parade to the basket. Bloor sank one. English dropped in two. Crawford contributed a two-pointer and English came back with another, making the count 24 to 7. Order scored and Bloor came up with the final goal of the half. The score: East Liverpool 26, Coshocton 9.

Third Quarter. Order scored. Bloor sank a foul. Scherer dropped in a field goal and a foul. Stull counted a foul. Kirkham registered from the free line. English and W. Plummer scored field goals. The score: East Liverpool 39, Coshocton 17.

The Championship Quarter. Bloor started it with a field goal. The Plummer boys sank one apiece. Scherer registered a foul. Wildblood collared the ball for two field goals, the final scoring of the game and the tournament. The score: East Liverpool 59, Coshocton 22.

DOVER—PLAY BY PLAY

First Quarter. First point of the game came on a foul by Dave Felt. Bloor duplicated and then sank the first field goal. English dropped a two pointer. Score at the quarter: East Liverpool 6, Dover 0.

Second Quarter. Bloor came up the floor for a field goal. Bloor counted on a foul. Bloor dropped in another field goal. Smith, Dover center, produced the first Dover points on a field goal. Bloor registered a foul. Beltner sank a foul as the half ended. The score: East Liverpool 12, Dover 5.

Third Quarter. Bloor dropped in a field goal. Bloor scored on a foul. The next eight points, in order, were registered by Frank Kirkham, playing a forward. He registered a field goal, two fouls, another field goal and still another one. The score at the end of the third period: East Liverpool 23, Dover 5.

Fourth Quarter. Smith came through with a Dover field goal. Bloor and English sank buckets for East Liverpool. Jones made it five for Dover on a foul. Bloor came up the court for two more field goals. Lontzer, Dover guard, registered a two-pointer. He then scored two successive fouls. English and Smith dropped in field goals and Smith, on a foul, made the final point of the game. The score: East Liverpool 33, Dover 12.

Antler Passers Book Title Series With Midland Collegians

Cage Rivals to Clash Here Tomorrow Night

Second Game to be Staged at Midland Next Monday Night; Clubs to Play on 60-40 Financial Basis.

Manager Ray T. Adam, of the East Liverpool Elks Basketball team, which tonight plays the Damascus Quakers at Salineville for the Columbiana County Amateur League championship, today announced the booking of another series for the Antlers. The lodgement will clash with the Midland Collegians tomorrow night on the high school floor here in the first game of a three-game series.

The second game will be played on next Monday night at Midland and the third, if necessary, will be determined then.

The 1927 Elks-Midland series was one of the hottest batch of games ever pulled off in this section of the valley and with rivalry still existing, the coming games should develop a lot of battling.

The teams will play on a 60-40 basis, meaning that the aggregation that gets the upper hand in two of them will cart home the big end of the gate receipts. Both teams will use their regular lineups.

On next Saturday night the Elks will play the Toronto Brown's Newsboys, the team that is playing Jim Thorpe's World Famous Indians to-night, at Toronto and sometime the following week will bring them to East Liverpool.

However, the attention of the Antler squad is focused today on the impending scrap with the Antlers at Salineville. Each team has won one and tonight's battle decides the championship.

Manager Adam has asked that all members of the team report at the Elks' club at 7 o'clock. The game will start at 8:15. A number of fans who have no other means of transportation, are planning to take the bus which runs regularly between Salineville and Wellsville. It operates from the Riverview hotel, corner of Third and Main streets, Wellsville.

Prize awards to winners in the Liberty duckpin league were announced today. They are:

High average—Bill Manypenny, 163.
High, one game—Manypenny, 226.
High, three games—Dietz, 591.
High team, one game—Indiana Trucks, 870.
High team, three games—Indiana Trucks, 2,330.
First half winners—Smith News.
Second half winners—Altman.
The roll-off for the season's title is scheduled Tuesday night.
The Liberty district duckpin tournament will be held during the week of March 19.

His Price Soared From $85 to $123,000 Quick!

CHALMER CISSELL
(International Illustrated News)

YES of the baseball world this spring are glued on the life form of a young athlete rejoicing in the rather movesome cognomen of Chalmers Cissell. He's the new shortstop of the Chicago White Sox.

His precious carcass has just been insured for a sum which the Windy City press agent assures us is not one cent less than a mere $100,000. And you can well believe that!

It wasn't so long ago that the Des Moines club of the Western League paid $85 to the United States Army for Mr. Cissell's release from kitchen police, drill and other military exercises.

And, be it known, when the White Sox took title to the very same Chalmers Cissell, the young gent set them back the sum of $123,000, believed to be the record price ever paid for any ballplayer.

Rising Market.
To fill in the gap between the $85 and $123,000 we might chronicle the fact that Des Moines sold Cissell to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast for $13,000—so everybody made a nice profit on the deal except the Sox, and that, of course, remains to be seen.
The actual cash paid was $75,000.

Dodgers' Payroll Runs High

Robby Will Have $200,000 Ball Club This Year.

Editor's note: This is the sixth of a series of articles by Davis J. Walsh, dealing with developments in various major league training camps. Other articles of the series will follow.

By Davis J. Walsh.
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12.—The writer had the privilege today of gazing upon a $200,000 ball club. At least, the payroll said it was a $200,000 outfit, a fact that might be deemed sufficient to prompt the late Charles Ebbets to turn turtle in his tomb. For the Brooklyn Dodgers used to be Charles's ball club and this once was Charles's money.

Years ago, in a moment of eloquence, Charles delivered himself of the dictum that baseball still was in its infancy. What he probably meant was that it soon was to go into its second childhood. When a ball club which holds the head of the second division as its abiding ambition, is willing to pay and does pay Arnold Stutz a salary of $10,000 for the season, the faculty of reason fairly totters on its throne.

Mr. Wilbert Robinson, the open faced, Swiss movement president-manager of the club, seems to be the sponsor for this policy of prodigality, although Charles himself was hardly the human stringency that popular fable would have him. However, it is to be doubted that he would have listened very attentively to Stutz's $10,000 talk of salesmanship. Nor would he have paid Max Carey and Bill Doak anything more than polite attention; anyhow, not $10,000 each.

Like His Pitchers.
It is an open question whether Jess Petty would have shaken him loose for $15,000. He probably would have granted Dazzy Vance his $20,000 but I fear that the capitulation would have been marked by a noticeable lack of spontaneous enthusiasm.
As for David J. Bancroft, player-but the White Sox included four players in the deal. One was Pitcher Bert Cole, who cost Chicago $35,000. Another was Outfielder like Boone, who cost $5,000. Two others, each to cost $4,000, to be added.

Cissell scarcely can remember when he did not play ball. He is only 24. He was born in Perryville, Mo. He joined the cavalry when he tired of learning the candy trade in St. Louis.

He was sent to Fort Des Moines, near Des Moines, Ia. And it was there that he attracted the attention of the Des Moines Club, which obtained his discharge.

He was used as utility fielder for a few weeks and then was installed as regular shortstop, leading the Western League short fielders in averages and hitting .345. Then Portland bought him for $13,000.
During 1927 on the Coast Cissell batted .328.
The youngsters weighs 160 pounds and stands 5 feet 10 1/2 inches. He bats right handed.

Breaks Record.
In purchasing Cissell for $123,000 the Sox paid $8,000 more than they did for Willie Kamm.

manager of the 1927 Braves, Charley would have had him arrested if he had requested a $15,000 contract plus a $30,000 bonus, $45,000 in all. But Mr. Robinson says it is all right and as far as the rest of the world, including Boncroft, is concerned, that just about closes the transaction.

"Well, we still have the pitching and more. To my regular staff of Dazzy Vance, Jess Petty, Jim Elliott, Bill Doak, Watson Clark, Rube Ehrhardt and Doug McWenney, the best in all baseball in my opinion, we will add the services of Louis Koupal, the Los Angeles boy who was with the Pirates. He has been out with Indianapolis, the club that sent Petty up and unless I'm crazy Koupal will do this time.

Needed in Infield.
However, even if he can't get off a watch crystal out there, he will be a prime necessity to the operation of a kid infield, and other members of which are Del Bissonette at first base; Jimmy Partridge at second and Harry Rionda at third. The latter has been up and down like a freight elevator but he had an encouraging year with Milwaukee this time and has shown enough down here to take the place away from Howard Freigau, of Dayton, Ohio, and Kansas City, who has had his fling with the Cubs and Cardinals.

Bissonette, who once deemed himself a pitcher with the Yankees, hit so well in the International league last year that he has been wished into Babe Herman's job at first base and Herman informed, much to his surprise, that he is an outfielder. Somehow, this fact also had managed to escape general notice during the fortunately few occasions Herman essayed the outfield at Ebbets field but, then, Babe ever was a block to conceal things. In fact, he permanently lost a lot of ball games around first base last year. He is hitting like a fool down here at that.

The added punch of which Mr. Robinson speaks so glibly is supposed to be furnished by Bissonette and Bancroft in the infield and by Al Tyson, the new addition to the outfield. Albert couldn't hit the size of his broad bill with the Giants but he went well in Buffalo and so he is back with the only club that will pay $10,000 to a man who hits .265. Tyson is and will be the regular left fielder until further notice. Carey, no longer a hitter, will be in right, with Harvey Handrick, always a hitter, but as outfielder and first baseman. Stutz, one of the finest defensive men the game affords, will roam center field. Overton Tremper, former University of Pennsylvania man, has a chance to stay, if he hits.

Lutheran Five Wins Hard Tilt

Defeat Methodist Protestants in League Game.

With Davis and Brown leading the scoring attack, with 18 and 12 points, respectively, the Lutheran quint of the Sunday school league defeated the Methodist Protestants, 41 to 38, in a hard fought game Saturday night on the Y. M. C. A. court.

The count was tied, 9-9, at the first quarter. The Lutherans went into the lead, 23 to 18, at the half, and held a four-point margin, 30-26, at the third quarter. The Methodists spurred in the final period to tie up the tally at 30-30, but the Lutherans got going again and stepped out in front toward the end of the period.

Bailey led the M. P. point makers with 18 points.
The St. Stephen's five was awarded a forfeit game over the Protestants who were unable to muster sufficient strength. The former then won an exhibition encounter, 39 to 28.

Sharkey on Threshold Of Title Scrap Again

Johnny Risko Only Obstacle, But, Experts Agree, he May be Too Much for Former Gob in 15-round Battle Tonight.

By Sid Mercer.
NEW YORK, March 12.—Jack Sharkey, of Boston, is standing once more on the threshold of a million dollar match with Gene Tunney.

Last summer it was Jack Dempsey who barred the way. This time it is the stolid, tireless Johnny Risko who bulks formidably on the doorstep of Tunney's title abode.

Indiana, Purdue, in Big 10 Tie

Thorpe's Aggregation Carded Here Wednesday.

CHICAGO, March 12.—Purdue won the right to share the Big Ten basketball championship with Indiana by defeating Minnesota on the latter's home floor Saturday night. The score was 32 to 34. It was the final game of the western conference season.

As the curtain dropped on one of the wildest campaigns in the history of Big Ten competition, Indiana and Purdue were found to be deadlocked for first honors, each with ten games won and two lost. Tied for second honors were Northwestern and Wisconsin, with nine victories and three defeats.

Michigan placed under the four leaders with seven games won and five lost. Chicago finished second on the next rung with five victories and seven defeats. Ohio State and Iowa each won three games and lost nine. Illinois and Minnesota tied for the cellar berth with only two wins and ten defeats.

FAVORITES WIN IN NET GAMES

CLEVELAND, March 12.—Favorites ran true to form in the finals of the Ohio State indoor tennis championship meet here, and today Kirk Reid and Charles Carren, Cleveland, as a result of Sunday's play, hold the state indoor doubles title, in addition to their Ohio outdoor doubles crown.

Mrs. Anderson Russell, Cleveland, and the youthful Carl Dennison, of Youngstown, were the other favored ones to take their titles, Mrs. Russell in June.

Temperament may play the leading role tonight at Madison Square Garden. The high strung, irritable, whimsical Sharkey should win if he chooses to risk everything in this one cast.

It all depends on his frame of mind when he starts or after a few rounds of attuning himself to Risko's plodding style.

Against Tom Heeney, another plodder, Sharkey was never animated by the spark of aggressiveness after he had leaped his right heavily on Heeney's jaw in the first two rounds without visible effect. He permitted Heeney to make the fight.

Risko is another "groove" batter. He can be depended on to hold his own pace for fifteen rounds unless badly punished by body blows. That was how Heeney defeated him in Detroit. Mere tapping, holding or scuffling will not discourage him.

The Cleveland baker boy knows only one style. He comes in flourishing his left for hooks to the head or body. A clever boxer can "tie him up" at close quarters but he always returns to the charge. It is a question whether Sharkey can beat Risko by awaiting his chance to score as Johnny comes in to him.

A few pounds of that might turn it into a purely defensive fight for Sharkey. He may be coming down the home stretch. His best chance to win decisively is to exert all his skill and strength in a smashing attack early in the fray.

Sharkey is the faster man and by far the better boxer. He can punch effectively with both hands and should be able to break up Risko's hooking attacks by simply stepping inside of those long leads.

If endurance is to be the deciding factor Risko has a great chance. He is young and a score of grueling battles have apparently not sapped his vitality.

The women's singles crown and Denison the junior championship.
Reid and Carren defeated Wick and Carl Cleveland; Mrs. Russell won over Ruth Parrell, Cleveland, and Denison beat Wayne Fuller, Cleveland.

Stolen Idols

A Romance of the Sea
By Frank L. Packard.

And so gradually, as I told you before, the threat came to mean nothing to us. And that's where we were wrong. I know now what he's done—has been gloating all this time over what he intended to do when he got ready—not hurrying about it, gloating over what was to come, and laughing his devil's laugh at the sense of false security he had lulled us into. Only an Oriental mind could find a cursed and unholy joy in that—to wait, and wait, and wait—for thirty-five years. And now Tom's gone. That's the story lad."

There was silence for a moment in the room—and then suddenly old Robert Kingsley's hands went out over the table, his fingers twitching, curved like claws. He looked at his son with grim significance.

"I almost wish Hsi Yan wasn't dead," he said.

Bob Kingsley's jaws clamped together.

"There are the others—they'll pay, too," he said.

"Aye!" breathed the old man fiercely. "To the last one of them! If it takes all the money we've got, and all the years we've got! And I hope to God I get well enough to take a hand in it along with you! But it's late now, and we'll get to bed. Put these letters and things in the drawer of the desk over there and lock 'em up—no, wait a minute!" He picked up the two ivory idols and held them out on the palm of his hand. "What would you say these were?"

"I've seen a chess-set somewhat along the same lines," suggested Bob Kingsley.

"Tom didn't play chess," said Robert Kingsley intemperately; "and even if he did, why would he be carrying a couple of chess pieces around in his pocket? And he didn't collect curios either; and even if he did why would they be in that boat with him?"

Bob Kingsley stared at his father.

"You mean something by that. What do you think they are?"

"Hsi Yan!" said Robert Kingsley curtly.

"Hsi Yan?" Bob Kingsley brows drew sharply together.

"How?"

"I don't know," replied the old man gruffly; "but I've got a feeling about it that I'm right. Anyway, lock 'em up with the other things. I—I'm tired." He set the two white gods back on the table. "We'll talk about it in the morning before you sail. You're going in the morning, lad, aren't you?"

Bob Kingsley nodded. He gathered up the letters, the two little idols and the other effects that had been found upon the body of his uncle, and, crossing the room, locked them all in the drawer of the desk.

He returned to the table, and handed the key to his father.

The old man began to wheel his chair toward the passageway that led to the bedrooms of the bungalow.

"Dead!" he muttered under his breath. "Hsi Yan's dead. And Tom's gone!"

CHAPTER 9.

The clock in the living-room struck two. Bob Kingsley turned restlessly on his bed. He had heard the clock strike every hour and every half hour since long before midnight, when, after assisting his father to retire, he had promptly turned in himself. He could not sleep, and, if anything, was more wide awake now than when he had gone to bed. His mind was too active—and, in a sense, confused, for hard on each other's heels came crowding presently the story of Hsi Yan, the finding of his murdered uncle's body and finally Crowley's letter that so frankly admitted the writer's inability to piece together the various and conflicting incidents of that night on Kalawa and make of them a logical whole. And all this had kept on thrusting itself upon him, inducing a gamut of emotions: a rush of fury, a blind elemental passion, a thirst for vengeance against those who had struck down the man that had been his boyhood's idol, and, in later years, apart from his father, the best friend he had ever had; then grief would come, and a mist would swim before him—it was strange, that—it was long since he could remember wet eyes—and a sense of irretrievable loss would lie heavy upon him; and then his brain would start groping again for a solution that would co-ordinate the happenings at Kalawa on the night of the attack.

His father, too, he knew, had been wakeful. For a long time he had heard the other tossing about on his bed—but there was no sound now from the next room. Pray God his father had at last got to sleep! Grimly, and, in a way, stolidly enough, the old man had taken the blow, but under the surface he, Bob Kingsley, knew only too well that it had cut hard and deep, and in the other's already impaired physical condition, had been a shock that almost certainly would retard recovery for a long time to come.

Bob Kingsley drove a clenched and vicious fist into his pillow, and, swinging over on his side, stared out of the window. It was dark now—almost black—even the native quarters across the clearing a few hundred yards away were invisible. The moonlight was gone, the stars had been blotted out, and the wind was getting up. He scowled savagely. He was sailing in the morning. Perhaps, though, it was no more than a tropical squall brewing.

His scowl deepened. In the long run, he'd have a far better chance with the Alita than would a gunboat whose business was blazoned on every line of her; but, even with an unobtrusive little schooner whose comings and goings were unheralded, and that could poke her nose in anywhere without exciting comment, it would be no sinecure to find Hsi Yan's junk and the butthroat crew that manned like her. On the face of it, it even looked like a well-nigh hopeless task. The chance was too heavily against him to make such a plan appear practical, for if the crew stuck together and continued to operate the junk for their own profit, the junk would certainly be disguised, and moreover would, with equal certainty, steer clear of the beaten paths until long after its crew were satisfied that the search had been given up as futile—and a chairman's patience was inexhaustible! On the other hand, the crew might very naturally have decided that the safest thing to do would be to abandon the junk, scatter, and let the East swallow them up. To the average European all Chinamen looked alike!

But they didn't look alike to each other! Bob Kingsley lips twisted into grim smile. That was where he would begin. Black Bob, they had called him! Well, perhaps his reputation, whether merited or not, would for once stand him in good stead! There were haunts in Singapore to which, so far as he knew, Black Bob was the only white man who had the entree. It would be dangerous, of course, perhaps even unsuccessful; but in those places, like a sort of underworld exchange, unknown to the average "Foreign Devil" whisperings passed from mouth to mouth, and there was little indeed that was not known in so far as native trafficking of any sort that mocked the law was involved. Who had been Hsi Yan's lieutenant on the junk—who were the individual Chinamen who had composed the crew? Where were they now? Was the junk still in commission? Had it been abandoned? Or had it been sold—in case it would now have a crew with which he was in no way concerned. It was the men, not the junk, he was after! With luck and a bit of risk in those haunts in Singapore, he, Black Bob, because of that unsavory name, might find the answer to those questions—there was very little chance that the law ever would!

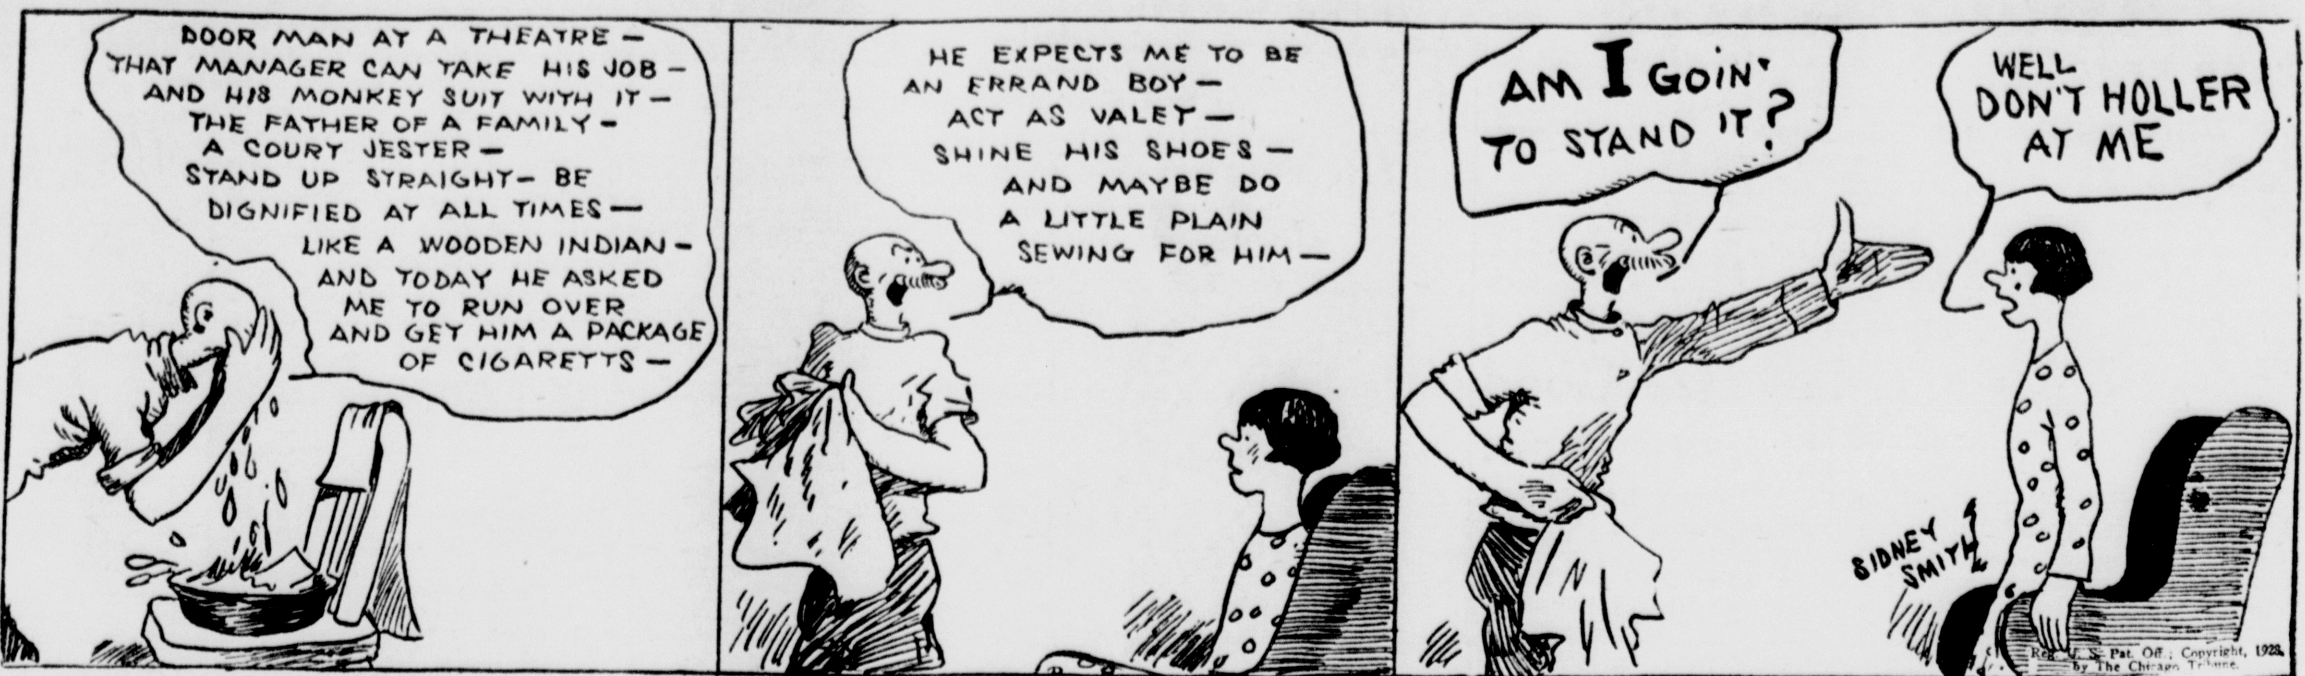

The Alita was provisioned and waiting out there in the lagoon—and had been for several weeks on the chance of still making the pearly season. But it was no longer a question of the pearly beds, or of staying in Patua here on the plantation until his father was able to get around again. The plantation would get along somehow, and one or two of the old native servants could be brought over from their own quarters to live in the bungalow so that his father would always have personal attention—personal!—at night if it were needed. And even if the plantation didn't get along, that did not count now in view of what had happened. As his father had said, that wasn't the Kingsley way!

He would sail in the morning for Singapore, providing this storm that appeared to be blowing up didn't develop into something that would absolutely keep the Alita port-bound. That was settled; but—he frowned heavily again as he stared out into the darkness—there were other phases, strange sinister phases of this brutal and cold-blooded crime at Kalawa that permitted of no definite conclusion.

BOYD STARS IN "DRESS PARADE"

William Boyd recently seen in "The Volga Boatman" and "The Yankee Clipper" and who is now starred in "Dress Parade," now at the Ceramic theatre, which was filmed at the United States Military Academy, under the direction of Donald Crisp, at last has fulfilled his greatest life's ambition.

He was a cadet at West Point. Boyd, upon his arrival at West Point, immediately began leading the life of a cadet and got quite a kick out of being a "Plebe."

"Ever since I was a kid, I have always wanted to go to West Point, and at last I was given the opportunity of taking a four years' course in four weeks," confessed Bill.

Boyd admitted that he did not try to act in the story of West Point but was just himself. He went around among the cadets; saluted and returned salutes; indulged in the various sports and really was a good fellow among the military men.

Bessie Love plays the feminine lead opposite Boyd and other members of the cast include Hugh Allan, Louis Natheaux, Clarence Geldert and Maurice Ryan.

Bum Business Man Has Good Pitching Arm

So Walsh Leaves Marts of Trade to Join Phillies.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 10.—Present-day ball players are looked upon as pretty shrewd business men. The Phils have one who wasn't, however, and because of that the club has in him a most promising pitcher.

August Walsh was signed last year and was sent to Pittsfield. All he did up there was to lead the Eastern League in the percentage of games won and lost.

Three years ago Walsh, then a coming youngster, was breezing along as a pitcher for Wilkes-Barre when the old sophone suddenly became null and void. Walsh's arm looked like a dead loss. He saw doctors all over the country, but none could do anything for him. They told him rest was the only thing that would help.

As a result, Walsh, who is married, decided he had to get down to brass tacks and earn some groceries. He went into business at the shore and decided to forego baseball.

But Walsh's business didn't pan out. Then he decided to have another fling at baseball, and by that time the rest had done its work. Augie found that the ball would cut up its former pranks for him.

So Walsh was signed by the Phils, and this spring he is one of the most promising young pitchers in camp. The Phils think he is going to be a winner.

COLLEGE QUINTS PLAN PLAY-OFF

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—Officials of Princeton, Pennsylvania and the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball league will meet today to select a definite date for the play-off for the title here next week. Princeton tied Penn for first place by defeating the Quakers Saturday night, 29 to 12.

Joe Schaaf, Penn forward, won the individual scoring honors with a total of 125 points, 26 better than the modern league record by Sam Pite of Yale. Langdell of Dartmouth finished second this year with 90 points, 35 behind Schaaf.

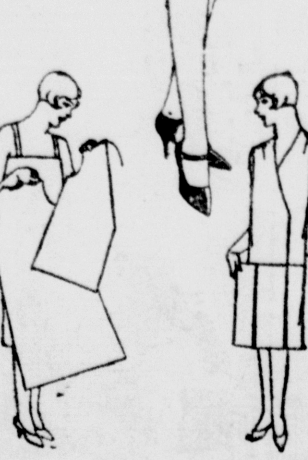

Replacing of city corporations with commissioners is being discussed in Ireland.

Twenty-six people were killed in railway accidents on British railways last year, it being the largest number since 1915.

More than 3,400 miles of good highways have been constructed in the Gold Coast of Africa in the past six years.

HOME SEWING

DECIDEDLY CHIC. The double-breasted coat styling is a conspicuous new type for Spring, shown in Design No. 3256, which also reveals the one-sided note in button closing. The skirt has inverted plaits at front to add flare to hemline. The attractive shaped shawl collar and inset pocket are style features worthy of note. Back cuts in one piece; front in three sections. A few seams to join and it's ready to wear, and only requires 3 yards of 40-inch material with 5-8 yard of 40-inch contrasting for the 36-inch size, pattern for which can be had in 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Flat silk crepe, crepe satin, wool georgette, angora wool jersey, cashmere and tweed are appropriate. Price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). None better made at any price. Our patterns are made by the leading Fashion Designers of New York City and are guaranteed to fit perfectly.

In ordering patterns clip the design shown or order by number. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review. From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns. For 10 cents additional you can obtain our Spring Fashion Magazine.

Bottles, phials and jars sent from this to their countries last year had a total value of $3,000,000.

More than 4,000,000 linear feet of American motion pictures were shown in Africa last year.

Edinburgh, Scotland, is to have a new theatre having a seating capacity of 3,000.

More than 8,000,000 people attend motion picture theatre in England each week, and the number is growing.
